

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Some abbreviations	12
I. Introduction.	15
1. Background	15
2. Travel agency	16
3. Two main types of activities of travel agencies.	17
4. International aspects.	18
5. The International Convention on Travel Contracts	20
6. The scope of the work	22
II. Travel intermediaries	24
7. Travel intermediary	24
8. Travel intermediary as representative of the traveller	26
9. Travel intermediary as representative of the providers of substantive services	27
10. Travel intermediary as representative of both parties	29
11. Substantive services provided by travel intermediaries	31
12. Authority to collect payment from the traveller	32
13. Travel intermediary as a mandatary	34
14. Paid or unpaid mandate?	36
15. Contract of mandate in common law	37
16. Contract of mandate in French law	39
17. Contract of mandate in Swiss law	40
18. Contract of mandate in German law	41
19. Contract of mandate in Swedish law	43
20. The position of the providers of substantive services	45
21. Responsibility of travel intermediaries towards the travellers according to the C.C.V.	49
22. Liability of a diligent travel intermediary who is a mandatary of the traveller	52
23. Liability of a diligent travel intermediary who is a mandatary of the providers of substantive services	57
24. Liability of a diligent travel intermediary who is a mandatary of both parties	60
25. Liability of a diligent travel intermediary providing substantive services that are usually performed by travel intermediaries	62

26.	Liability of the traveller towards the travel intermediary . . .	64
27.	Limitations of liability	67
28.	Undisclosed agency	69
29.	Partially disclosed agency	76
30.	Travel intermediary is not a commission merchant	78
31.	Additional rules of the C.C.V. applicable to travel intermediaries	79
III.	Travel organizers	83
32.	Travel organizer	83
33.	Classification of the organized travel contract	84
34.	Three areas of the travel organizer's obligations	85
35.	The travel organizer's obligation to organize	87
36.	The travel organizer's responsibility for information he gives to the traveller	90
37.	The travel organizer's responsibility for his own substantive services	95
38.	The travel organizer's responsibility for the performances of third persons	98
39.	Travel organizer as assignor of rights to the substantive services provided by third persons	106
40.	The travel organizer's responsibility for the performances of third persons according to the C.C.V.	109
41.	The travel organizer's responsibility for the performances of third persons when the C.C.V. is not applicable	116
42.	Limitations of liability	123
43.	Direct actions between the traveller and the provider of substantive services	127
44.	Liability of the traveller towards the travel organizer	130
45.	Additional rules of the C.C.V. applicable to travel organizers	133
46.	Legal relations between travellers taking part in an organized tour	137
47.	Some reflections about the legal classification of the organized travel contract	138

IV. Travel agency in private international law	144
48. International implications	144
49. Unification of law in the C.C.V.	145
50. The proper law of the contract	147
51. Party autonomy	150
52. Determination of the proper law of the contract when the parties have not made any effective choice	157
53. Contracts between the travellers and the providers of sub- stantive services	161
54. Contracts between the travellers and the travel interme- diaries	166
55. Contracts between the travel intermediaries and the pro- viders of substantive services	168
56. The travel intermediary's authority to bind the travellers and/or the performers of the substantive services	171
57. The contracts between the travel organizers and the pro- viders of substantive services	172
58. The relations between the travellers and the providers of the substantive services included in the inclusive tour	174
59. The contracts between the travellers and the travel orga- nizers	175
Annex: The International Convention on Travel Contracts	183
Bibliography	198
Tables of cases	203