
Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Part I Television theory
1 Tele-ology	3
2 Television and the power of dirt	21
Part II Truth wars
3 Regimes of truth and the politics of reading: a blivit	45
4 Consciousness razing	64
5 Home help for populist politics: relational aspects of TV news	75
Part III Paedocracy
6 Invisible fictions	101
7 The real world of audiences	119
8 Out of bounds	126
9 Regimes of pleasure: a fragment	136
Part IV Photopoetics
10 The politics of photopoetry	147
11 Continuous pleasures in marginal places	158
12 A state of excitement	181

Part V The art of television

13	Local television: from space to time	193
14	Quoting not science but sideboards (with Tom O'Regan)	202
15	Two cheers for paedocracy
	I The Eighteenth Brumaire of Kylie Minogue	218
	II Getting the picture? The visual arts in the electronic media	220
	Notes	227
	Bibliography	236
	Index	241