

Table of Contents

FOREWORD	xi
PART I: A RENEWED MORAL METHODOLOGY IN THE NATURAL LAW TRADITION OF ST. THOMAS AQUINAS (Supportive Arguments For Traditional Catholic Teaching on Sexual Morality)	1
Chapter
I. A REFORMULATION OF THOMISTIC NATURAL LAW THEORY (Germain Grisez)	3
Introduction	3
Anthropological Presuppositions	4
Two traditions	4
Human nature	5
Freedom	7
Choice	8
Free choice	9
Free choice and physical behavior	10
Acts of the will	12
Free choices:
How they differ in magnitude	13
How they differ in moral quality	14
Moral Methodology	16
Integral human fulfillment	17
Human goods	18
Reflexive or existential goods	19
Substantive goods	20
From practical reasoning to moral choice	22

The first principle of morality	23
Modes of responsibility	24
Specific moral norms	27
Conscience	29
Christian moral norms	31
Modes of christian response	33
Conclusion	35

II. THE HUMAN PERSON AS A SEXUAL BEING

(Robert and Mary Rosera Joyce)	38
--------------------------------------	----

Introduction	38
Human Sexual Ecology	40
Sexuality	40
Genitality	41
Coitality	43
Love	45
Sexual energy	47
Soular energy	49
The human person: male and female	51
Sexual identity	54
Physical complementarity	55
Psychic complementarity	56
Spiritual complementarity	59
Centering	60
Vocational identity	61
Vocation within a vocation	63
Celibacy	63
Marriage	64
Parenting and marriage	65
Conclusion	66

III. NATURAL LAW METHODOLOGY

AND SEXUAL MORALITY (William E. May)	70
--	----

Introduction	70
Anthropological Emphases	71
Man as a being of moral worth	71
Man as a moral being	72
Sin: a disabling factor	74
Grace: an enabling factor	75
Man as a linguistic being	76
The perfect communication of self	77

Moral Methodology	79
The human act and the basic human goods	80
Ethics of intent and content	81
Human Sexuality	82
Human sexual identity	83
Human sexuality and our linguistic being	84
Covenantal marriage	85
Genital sexual expression	87
Sexual Morality	89
An integralist understanding of human sexuality	89
A separatist understanding of human sexuality	91
Conclusion	93

PART II: A MIXED-CONSEQUENTIALIST MORAL METHODOLOGY (Proposed Revisions Of Traditional Catholic Teaching On Sexual Morality)	97
--	----

Chapter

IV. MIXED-CONSEQUENTIALISM: A PROPORTIONALIST METHODOLOGY (Richard A. McCormick)	99
---	----

Introduction	99
A need for renewal	99
Some premises for renewal	101
Anthropological Presuppositions	103
Sacred scripture	104
The natural law	106
What of christian morality?	107
Anonymous christianity	108
Supernatural existential	110
Moral Methodology	112
Human fulfillment	112
Moral significance	113
Physicalism	114
Proportionate reason	115
Center of morality	117
Human freedom	118
The fundamental option and human acts	119
The common good	120
Charity, grace, and sin	121
Moral norms	124
Norms: formal and material	125

The ideal vs. the possible	126
Human limitations, sin, and redemption	128
Conclusion	129

V. MIXED-CONSEQUENTIALISM: RELATIONALITY—RESPONSIBILITY MODEL (Charles E. Curran)

133

Introduction	133
Critique Of Moral Teachings In The Catholic Tradition	134
Two sources	134
Sacred scripture's role in Christian morality	136
The moral message of the gospel	138
Further specification of the christian life	138
Radical demands of Jesus' teaching	139
General thrusts of gospel ethics	140
Defects in past scriptural interpretation	141
Precedents for compromise	142
Christian hope	143
The natural law	144
Not a monolithic concept	145
The danger of physicalism	146
Ulpian's influence	146
The classicist worldview; substantialism	149
The classicist worldview; isolationism	150
A deductive method	151
New Directions In Catholic Thought	152
Historically conscious worldview	152
A renewed ecclesiology: many magisteria	153
Doctrinal development	156
An inductive method	157
Stance or horizon	158
Creation	159
Sin	160
Incarnation	162
Redemption and resurrection destiny	163
Relationality-responsibility model	163
Fundamental option	164
Freedom	165
Sin: differences in kind	167
Human Sexuality	169
Sexuality: meaning and purpose	169
Love and commitment	171
Procreative aspect	172

Sexuality: ideal and compromise	173
Sexuality and sin	173
Conclusion	174
 VI. FURTHER DIRECTIONS FOR THEOLOGICAL REVISION	 179
Introduction	179
Empirical Consequentialism (John Giles Milhaven)	180
Creative responsibility	180
A love ethic	181
Experience and empirical sciences	182
Secularity	183
The value of moral norms	184
A proportional calculus	185
Experience	187
Direct experience	189
Two purposes of christian ethics	190
Human Sexuality: New Directions In American Catholic Thought (Anthony Kosnik et al.)	192
The meaning and purpose of human sexuality	193
Sexual morality	196
Sexual Morality: A Catholic Perspective (Philip S. Keane)	201
A theology of human sexuality	202
Christian stance	203
Sexual morality	204
Ontic evil and morality	204
A proportionate reason	206
The fundamental option and sin	207
Premarital sexual intercourse	208
A development of the tradition?	209
Conclusion	210
 PART III: A COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS OF THE THEOLOGICAL VIEWS PRESENTED IN PARTS I AND II.	 215
Chapter
 VII. CONCLUDING ANALYSIS	 217
Introduction	217

A Reply To Certain Criticisms Of Traditional Catholic Teaching On Sexual Morality	219
Anthropology	219
Two worldviews	219
A shared concern	220
Vatican II: the nature and dignity of the human person.....	221
The consequences of sin	223
Human nature: an equivocation of terms	224
Human nature: centered in Christ.....	225
Moral Methodology	226
Vatican II: two sources of ethical wisdom	226
The natural law	227
Conscience	227
Natural law principles and norms	228
The integral meaning of human acts.....	229
Against the naturalist fallacy.....	231
Divine revelation	232
The appropriation of divine revelation: culturally conditioned?...	234
Vatican II: Man as a social and sexual being.....	235
The marriage covenant of conjugal love	235
A Critique Of The Revisionists' Mixed-Consequentialist Methodology	237
A critique of proportionalism	238
Critique of fundamental option theory	240
Final Reflections	241
Human sexuality: an integralist vs. a separatist understanding...	242
Conclusion	244
BIBLIOGRAPHY.....	249
INDEX.....	261