I. INTRODUCTION 1

1. Modelling 3

1.1 The Map is Not the Territory 3

1.2 A New Model 5

1.3 The Structure of Models 5

1.4 Western Scientific Models 8

1.5 Extending the Modern Scientific Model 11

1.6 Modelling Elegance 15

1.7 Representational Systems - The Building
Blocks of Behavior 17

1.8 Synesthesia 23

Footnotes to Introduction 25

II. STRATEGIES 26

2. TOTEs and Strategies 26

2.1 Nested TOTEs 30

2.2 Refining the TOTE Model with
Representational Systems 31

2.3 Applying the Representational Analysis of TOTEs 33

2.31 Matching Representational Systems to Task 35

2.4 Modifying TOTE Notation for Strategies 38

2.5 The Implications of Strategies 40

2.6 The Mechanics of Strategies 45

2.7 Defining the "Strategy" 48

Contents

2.8 Strategies and "Consciousness"	49
2.9 Unpacking Unconscious Strategies	56
2.10 The Formal Power of Strategies	56
Footnotes to Chapter II	59
 III. ELICITATION	 60
3. The Elicitation Process	60
3.1 Eliciting the Strategy	61
3.2 Unpacking the Strategy	67
3.21 Unpacking Through Predicates	68
3.22 Expanding 4-Tuple Notation - Part1	73
3.23 Unpacking Strategies Throught Accessing Cues	76
3.231 Eye Movements as Accessing Cues	79
3.232 Gestural Accessing Cues	82
3.233 Breathing Changes	83
3.234 Posture and Muscle Tonus Changes	83
3.235 Tonal and Tempo Changes	84
3.24 Employing the Elicitation Procedures	85
3.241 Expanding 4-Tuple Notation - Part 2	88
3.242 Applying the New Modifiers	99
 IV. UTILIZATION	 104
4. Utilization	105
4.1 Form Vs. Content	106
4.2 Pacing Strategies	107
4.21 Identifying and Utilizing Decision Points	112
4.22 Rapport	115
4.23 Flexibility in Pacing Strategies	117
4.3 Anchoring	119
4.31 Anchoring Transcript	121
4.32 Anchoring and Utilization	146
4.33 Covert Anchoring and Pacing	148
4.34 Requisite Variety	151
4.4 Ideas and Examples About Areas of Application for Strategy Utilization	152
4.41 Education	152
4.411 Anchoring and Reinforcement in Education	155

Contents

4.412 Polarity Strategies in Learning and Negative Motivation Strategies	157
4.413 Feedback	157
4.42 Business and Organizational Development	160
4.421 Implication of NLP for Sales	163
4.422 Implications of NLP for Advertising	169
4.423 Recruiting and Selection	171
4.43 Medical and Health Professions	172
4.431 Informed Consent	175
4.44 Law	176
4.45 Implications for Psychotherapy	179
 V. DESIGN	 192
5. Design	193
5.1 Streamlining	194
5.2 Redesigning Maladaptive Strategies and Outcomes	195
5.21 Designing Context Markers and Decision Points	197
5.3 Artificial Design	200
5.31 Well-Formedness Conditions for Artificial Design	204
5.311 Outcome Sequitur	210
5.312 Rules of Thumb in Design	210
5.313 Meta-Outcomes	211
5.32 Applying Artificial Design in a Group Situation	212
Footnotes to Chapter V	219
 VI. INSTALLATION	 220
6. Well-Formedness Conditions for Installation	220
6.1 Installation Through Anchoring	222
6.11 Anchoring an Entire Strategy Sequence	223
6.12 Anchoring Individual and Unrelated Steps	227
6.2 Installing Through Rehearsal	231
6.21 Rehearsing Strategy Steps	231
6.22 Rehearsing Accessing Cues	234

Contents

6.23 Rehearsing Synesthesia Patterns	235
6.3 Interrupting Strategies	236
6.31 Interrupting By Overload	237
6.32 Interruption By Diversion	238
6.33 Interruption By "Spinning Out" a Strategy	239
6.4 Interference Phenomena	241
6.41 Reframing	243
6.411 The Reframing TOTE	244
6.412 Reframing Transcript	249
6.5 Installation and Interference in Groups and Organizations	268
6.51 Intereference	274
6.511 Arbitration and Negotiation	275
