

Contents

Rethinking with the reader	x
1 Rethinking speech	1
1.1 The order of words	1
1.2 Topics to rethink	3
1.3 Waves literally experienced	5
1.3.1 Poetic language	7
1.3.2 Legal language	9
1.3.3 Hart and Joyce	10
1.4 The shining crystal	11
1.4.1 Spoken words	13
1.4.2 Speech	14
1.5 Rethinking the flagship	17
1.5.1 Rethinking change changes	17
1.5.2 Rethinking structured	18
References	19
 INTERMEZZO 1 THE FLAGSHIP “IN EXTREMIS”
References	25
 2 Hobbes’ frontispiece	26
Introduction	26
2.1 The frontispiece	26
2.2 The torso	29
2.2.1 Power	30
2.2.2 Content	31
2.2.3 Composure	32
2.3 Language	34
2.3.1 Silence	35
2.3.2 Contract	36
2.4 Natural law	39
2.4.1 New individualism	40
2.4.2 Emancipation	42
2.5 Contract, law, and language	43

2.5.1	Cornerstone	44
2.5.2	Sentence	44
2.5.3	Science	46
2.6	The truth of contract	49
2.6.1	Speech	49
2.6.2	Positions	54
2.6.3	The global gap	56
2.7	The Speaker–Hearer Model	62
	References	64

INTERMEZZO 2 JOB’S OTHER OTHERNESS

INTERMEZZO 3 LIFE IN THE MOUTH

3	Von Savigny’s “people”	70
3.1	The Napoleonic Code	71
3.1.1	The Code poetic	71
3.1.2	The Code’s “other”	73
3.2	Von Savigny	75
3.2.1	Possession	77
3.2.2	Animus domini	78
3.2.3	Possession’s consciousness	79
3.2.4	Semiotic dimensions	82
3.3	Legal consciousness	84
3.3.1	Extra legem, intra ius	86
3.3.2	Sources of law	87
3.3.3	Interpretation	89
3.4	Von Savigny and Il’in	90
3.4.1	Consciousness and communication	91
3.4.2	Consciousness and politics	93
3.5	Von Savigny’s “people”	96
3.5.1	Volk and language	96
3.5.2	The riddle of the plural	98
3.5.3	Consciousness and communication	99
	References	100
4	Signs signify	102
4.1	The key called “sign”	102
4.1.1	Six domains	104
4.1.1.1	Universe	104
4.1.1.2	Science	106
4.1.1.3	Language	107

4.1.1.4	Communication	108
4.1.1.5	Positions in speech	110
4.1.1.6	Body and text	111
4.2	The passion to signify	113
4.2.1	Peirce meets colleagues	113
4.2.2	J.I. de Haan's legal significs	115
4.2.2.1	About words	116
4.2.2.2	Better law	117
4.2.2.3	Gesamtkunstwerk	120
4.3	Today and tomorrow	122
4.3.1	Gerrit Mannoury	122
4.3.2	Signifying is understanding	124
4.3.3	Signs, names, and speech	127
	References	130
INTERMEZZO 4 THE SELFIE'S SELF
	References	134
5	Structuralism and law	135
5.1	Constellations	135
5.1.1	Structuralism in hindsight	136
5.1.2	Language	140
5.1.3	Genetics	141
5.1.4	Cyberspace	143
5.2	Law and structuralism	147
5.2.1	Subjectivity	149
5.2.1.1	Deconstruction	151
5.2.1.2	Derrida	152
5.2.1.3	Communication	154
5.2.2	Hermeneutics	155
5.2.3	Text hermeneutics	159
5.3	Discourse	161
5.3.1	Foucault	161
5.3.2	Legal discourse	162
5.3.3	Features of a legal discourse	164
5.4	Structuralism and law	166
	References	170
6	Alter's presence	172
6.1	The "I"–"thou" essence	172
6.1.1	Word and speech	173
6.1.2	The birth of a word	174

6.1.3	Is "I" a word?	176
6.1.4	Alter's immanence	178
6.2	The speech act	179
6.2.1	The speech act	181
6.2.2	Grammarians power	184
6.2.3	Recognizing alter	187
6.2.4	Speech act, speech event	190
6.3	Buber's Grundwort	193
6.3.1	Philosophical considerations	194
6.3.2	The Groundword's language	195
6.3.3	The Groundword's inner dynamics	197
6.3.4	Inner speech and Groundword	198
6.3.4.1	Inner speech	198
6.3.4.2	Speaking the Groundword	202
6.3.4.3	Beyond the Speaker-Hearer Model	202
6.3.4.4	The riddle of "inner speech"	204
	References	205

INTERMEZZO 5 CRYSTAL-CLEAR DARKNESS

7	What language, what law?	209
7.1	Lost in law	210
7.1.1	Words lost in law	210
7.1.2	Pronouns lost in law	213
7.1.3	Persons lost in law	216
7.2	Law's persona ficta	219
7.3	What language, what law?	226
7.3.1	Language's unity	226
7.3.2	Law's eyes and ears	229
	References	233

INTERMEZZO 6 POUND AND PEIRCE

Charles Sanders Peirce: A Sketch of Logical Critics , 1911	236
References	240

8	Word, seme, digit	241
8.1	Laboratory of the word	242
8.1.1	Mutation in language	243
8.1.2	Involved in speech	245
8.2	Words multidimensional	248
8.2.1	Plurality a word's feature	248
8.2.2	Dominant forms of plurality	250

8.3	Conversion consequences	252
8.3.1	Dynamics in detail	253
8.3.2	Astrophysical notions	255
8.4	Conversion as motion	258
8.4.1	Data and conversions	258
8.4.2	Essential conversions	260
8.5	Legal language and conversion	262
8.5.1	Law and AD/DA conversions	262
8.5.2	Conversion focus on law	263
8.5.3	Legal branches and conversions	265
8.5.3.1	Cyber law	265
8.5.3.2	A cyber law critique	266
8.5.3.3	Datafication and artificial intelligence	270
8.5.3.4	New profiles facing law–language	277
8.6	Speech	278
	References	281
9	The flagship’s wreckage	283
9.1	Life in conversions	284
9.2	Words in conversion	286
9.2.1	Property and speech	287
9.2.2	Conversion and datafication	288
9.3	Ten words in protocol	290
9.3.1	Pronouns articulated	291
9.3.2	Lingual patterns articulated	294
9.3.3	Connections’ connectivity	295
9.3.4	Datafication and hermeneutics	296
9.4	The threats of wreckage	298
9.4.1	Words in motion	298
9.4.2	Lost in motion	302
9.4.3	Endangered speech	305
9.4.4	Saying law, saving law	307
	References	313
	General index	315