

Contents

Introduction: Modern Pressures on Constitutionalism . . . . .	1
Yaniv Roznai and Richard Albert
Emergency, Exception, and Normalcy
Introduction: Emergency, Exception and Normalcy . . . . .	17
Guy Lurie
From Institutional Sovereignty to Constitutional Mindset: Rethinking the Domestication of the State of Exception in the Age of Normalization . . . . .	21
Ming-Sung Kuo
Judicial Review and Emergencies in Post-Marcos Philippines . . . . .	41
Dante B. Gatmaytan
Constitution and Law as Instruments for Normalising Abnormalcy: States of Exception in the Plurinational Context . . . . .	63
Kumaravadivel Guruparan
Political Emergencies as Challenges to the Impartiality of Public Law . . . . .	81
Ioannis A. Tassopoulos
Terrorism and Warfare
Introduction: Terrorism and Warfare—Extreme Conditions or the New Normal? . . . . .	103
Myriam Feinberg
Human Rights in Times of Terror—A Judicial Point of View . . . . .	109
Aharon Barak

Detaining Unlawful Enemy Combatants In Israel: A Matter of Misinterpretation? . . . . .	121
Joshua Segev
The Law Governing the Right of Enemy Aliens' Access to Courts . . . .	139
Roy Peled, Liav Orgad, and Yoram Rabin
Public Health, Financial, and Economic Crises
Introduction: Public Health, Financial and Economic Crises . . . . .	167
Anna Damaskou
Judging in Times of Economic Crisis: The Case Law on Austerity Measures in Comparative Perspective . . . . .	175
Antonia Baraggia
Financial Crisis as a New Genus of Constitutional Emergency? . . . . .	197
Elisa Bertolini
Public Health Emergencies and Constitutionalism Before COVID-19: Between the National and the International . . . . .	217
Pedro A. Villarreal
Constitutionalism for Divided Societies
Introduction: Constitutionalism for Divided Societies . . . . .	241
Patrick Graham
The Constitutionalism of Emergency: The Case of Bosnia and Herzegovina and Beyond: Multinationalism Behind Asymmetrical Constitutional Arrangements . . . . .	247
Maja Sahadžić
The Paradox of Territorial Autonomy: How Subnational Representation Leads to Secessionist Preferences . . . . .	267
Elias Dinas and Nikos Skoutaris
Entrenching Hegemony in Cyprus: The Doctrine of Necessity and the Principle of Bicommunality . . . . .	291
Nasia Hadjigeorgiou and Nikolas Kyriakou
Constitution-Making and Constitutional Change
Introduction: Constitution-Making and Constitutional Change . . . . .	315
Tom Gerald Daly
Authoritative Constitution-Making in the Name of Democracy? . . . . .	323
Andreas Braune

Again: From 1867 to Today, Making a Constitution Under an Elite Umbrella in Turkey . . . . .	345
Fatih Öztürk
Constitution-Making, Political Transition and Reconciliation in Tunisia and Egypt: A Comparative Perspective . . . . .	379
Manar Mahmoud
Constitutional Exception as the Basis for Security Sector Reform in Timor-Leste . . . . .	405
Ricardo Sousa da Cunha
Conclusion
Emergency's Challenges . . . . .	427
Oren Gross	