

CONTENTS

Stuart Max Walters 1920–2005	7
Author's Foreword and Acknowledgements	9
In memory of Stuart Max Walters
1 The Constant Spring: What Trees and Woods Are and How They Behave	14
2 Some Less Familiar Properties of Trees: Roots, Partnerships, Longevity, Tree Rings, Sap-Sucking, Fire	32
3 Outline of Woodland History	50
4 Pollen Analysis and Wildwood	62
5 Wildwood into Woodland	88
6 Of Wood-Pasture and Savanna	114
7 Archives of Woodland and How to Study Them	134
8 Archaeology and Land-Forms of Woodland and Wood-Pasture	156
9 Pictures and Photographs	184
10 Woodland in the Field: Evidence of Present Soils, Trees and Vegetation	196
11 Uses of Wood and Timber: Reconstructing the Woods from Buildings, Hurdles and Ships	218
12 Ancient-Woodland Plants and Other Creatures	246
13 Wild and Planted Trees	262
14 Some Types of Woodland: Lowland Zone	272
15 Some Types of Woodland: Highland Zone and Ireland	290
16 Caledonian Pinewoods	300
17 Environment, Pathology and Ecology: Damage, Disease, Defoliation	318
18 Modern Forestry: its Rise and Fall	344
19 Modern Forestry: its Legacy. Plantations as Ecosystems	364
20 On Investigating a Wooded Forest: Blackmoor	384
21 Experiments and Long-Term Observations	402
22 The Recent Past and the Future	412
References	443
Bibliography	463
Tables	466
Index	490