

Contents

Citation Information	vii
Notes on Contributors	ix
1 Introduction: Professional judgement and decision-making in social work Brian Taylor and Andrew Whittaker	1
2 Comparing child protection decision-making in England and Finland: supervised or supported judgement? Rachel Falconer and Steven M. Shardlow	6
3 What makes it so hard to look and to listen? Exploring the use of the Cognitive and Affective Supervisory Approach with children's social work managers Danielle Turney and Gillian Ruch	20
4 Legal capacity and the mental health social worker role: an international comparison Jim Campbell, Lisa Brophy, Gavin Davidson and Ann-Marie O'Brien	34
5 Professional discretion and length of work experience: what findings from focus groups with care managers in elder care suggest Anna Olaison, Sandra Torres and Emilia Forssell	48
6 Dimensions for argument and variability in child protection decision-making A. Mosteiro, U. Beloki, E. Sobremonte and A. Rodríguez	63
7 Child protection decision-making: social workers' perceptions Nhlanganiso Nyathi	82
8 Transitioning from 'outside observer' to 'inside player' in social work: practitioner and student perspectives on developing expertise in decision-making Kate Leonard and Louise O'Connor	97

CONTENTS

- 9 A balancing act – a grounded theory study of the professional judgement of child protection social workers
Martin Kettle

Index

111

125

iv
xi

1

6

20

34

48

63

82

97

