Contents

List of illustrations ix
Preface xi
Notes on contributors xiii

Introduction: awakening micro-theoretical perspectives in environmental sociology 1
BRADLEY H. BREWSTER AND ANTONY J. PUDDEPHATT

1 Micro-interactions of cosmic proportions: mediating human–cosmos relationships in the planetarium 17
MEGAN S. ALBAUGH BONHAM

2 "This is not Sea World": spectacle and insight in nature tourism 32
PETER R. GRAHAME

3 How to climb Mount Fuji (at your earliest convenience): a non-representational approach 48
PHILLIP VANNINI

4 Negotiating identity, valuing place: enacting "earthcare" and social justice at Finca La Bella, Costa Rica 61
STELLA M. ČAPEK

5 Green lifestyles and micropolitics: pragmatist action theory and the connection between lifestyle change and collective action 81
JANET A. LORENZEN

6 Mead, interactionism, and the improbability of ecological selves: toward a meta-environmental microsociological theory 98
STEPHEN ZAVESTOSKI AND ANDREW J. WEIGERT

7 Present tense: everyday animism and the politics of possession 117
MICHAEL M. BELL

8 Wild selves: a symbolic interactionist perspective on species, minds, and nature 128
LESLIE IRVINE

9 Dog shit happens: human–canine interactions and the immediacy of excremental presence 143
MATTHIAS GROSS AND ANA HORTA

10 Sorting the trash: competing constructions and instructions for handling household waste 161
SUSAN MACHUM

11 The utility of phenomenology in understanding and addressing human-caused environmental problems 178
JERRY WILLIAMS

12 The social psychology of compromised negotiations: constructing asymmetrical boundary objects between science and industry 192
BENJAMIN KELLY

13 Escaping the iron cage of environmental rationalizations: microsocial decision-making in environmental conflicts 206
FILIP ALEXANDRESCU AND BERND BALDUS

Index 224