Chapter 4 – Globalisation 8

9 780198 432722

Introduction: Aiming for success 5

1 Tectonic processes and hazards 16

Chapter overview	16
1.1 Natural hazards and disasters	17
1.2 Plate tectonics	18
1.3 Understanding earthquakes	20
1.4 Understanding volcanic eruptions	22
1.5 Understanding tsunami	24
1.6 Why do some natural hazards become disasters?	26
1.7 Governance and natural disasters	27
1.8 Geophysical disaster trends and hazard profiles	31
1.9 Multiple-hazard zones	32
1.10 Hazard management theoretical models	33
1.11 Managing the impacts of tectonic hazards	34

2 Glaciated landscapes and change 36

Chapter overview	36
2.1 Svalbard – a glaciated landscape	37
2.2 Climate change and glaciation	38
2.3 Past and present ice cover	40
2.4 Periglacial processes and landscapes	41
2.5 Mass balance and glaciers as systems	43
2.6 Glacial movement	45
2.7 The glacier landform system	46
2.8 Glacial erosion and landforms	47
2.9 Glacial deposition and landforms	49
2.10 Glacial meltwater and landforms	51
2.11 Glaciated landscapes 1 – the Lake District	53
2.12 Glaciated landscapes 2 – Everest and the Sagarmatha National Park	55
2.13 Glaciated landscapes 3 – tundra ecosystems	57

3 Coastal landscapes and change 59

Chapter overview	59
3.1 Coastal landscapes and systems	60
3.2 Geology and the coast	62
3.3 Waves and beaches	64
3.4 Coastal erosion – processes and landforms	65
3.5 Coastal transport and deposition	67
3.6 Weathering and mass movement at the coast	69
3.7 Sea level change	71
3.8 Holderness and coastal erosion	73
3.9 Coastal flooding	75
3.10 Managing coastal erosion and flooding	77
3.11 Managing coasts in a holistic way	79

4 Globalisation 81

Chapter overview	81
4.1 Understanding globalisation	82
4.2 Defining globalisation	83
4.3 The key players in globalisation	84
4.4 TNCs and globalisation	86
4.5 'Switched on' and 'switched off' worlds	88
4.6 The global shift: winners and losers	90
4.7 Global interconnections	92
4.8 Towards a global culture?	94
4.9 Closing the development gap?	96
4.10 Rising tensions	98
4.11 Consequences, ethics and sustainability	100
