

Contents

Acknowledgements	v
Foreword	vii
Joan E. Steiner
Introduction: European Scholars Teaching African American Texts	1
Karla Šimčíková

Part One Scandinavia

African American, Danish American, Black Danish: Teaching Nella Larsen's Quicksand in Denmark	11
Martyn Bone
"We Don't Think of Those Things Here": On Teaching African American Texts in Sweden	33
Lena Ahlin

Part Two Eastern / Central Europe

Of the Use and Abuse of Difference: Some Thoughts on Teaching African American Literature in Poland	47
Ewa Luczak
Understanding the World(s) We Live in: Teaching African American Literature in the Czech Republic	57
Karla Šimčíková

Part Three
Western / Southern Europe

Teaching African American Literature in Portugal: An Exercise in Citizenship 75

Isabel Caldeira

Mapping New Frontiers: African American Studies in France 89

Arlette Frund

Invisibility as a Metaphor of the Other: Teaching Ralph Ellison's
Invisible Man in Italy 105

Maria Luisa PozziLolli, Mariella Stagi Scarpa

Appendix

The Challenges of Being a "Doubly Double Outsider"; or,
When a Czech Scholar Teaches African American Literature
in the United States 121

Karla Šimčíková

Notes on Contributors 135