

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction 1

PART I THE ADVENT OF THE NEURO-CONSUMER 7

Introduction 7

1 From philosophical theory to neuroscience 9

2 Consumer behavior studied by marketing research 14

3 Limits of marketing studies and the advent of the
"neuro-consumer" 18

4 The brain: underestimated by science for centuries 23

5 Neuromarketing and the neuro-consumer:
two 21st-century inventions 29

6 Neuroscientific techniques used to understand the neuro-consumer's behavior 39

Points to remember 53

PART II UNDERSTANDING THE NEURO-CONSUMER'S BRAIN 55

Introduction 55

7 The neuro-consumer's brain: a complex organ 57

8 Is the brain free or programmed? 64

9 How age and gender condition the brain 78

10 How memory conditions the brain 92

11 The influence of emotions and desires 99

Points to remember 112

PART III THE NEURO-CONSUMER'S BRAIN INFLUENCED BY THE SENSES 113

Introduction 113

12 The neuro-consumer and the sense of sight 115

13 The neuro-consumer and the sense of hearing 125

14 The neuro-consumer and the sense of smell 133

15 The neuro-consumer and the sense of touch 144

16 The neuro-consumer and the sense of taste 156

Points to remember 164

PART IV THE NEURO-CONSUMER'S BRAIN INFLUENCED BY INNOVATION 167

Introduction 167

17 The influence of innovation, design and packaging 169

18 The influence of the price of products and services 180

19 The influence of experiential and sensory marketing 188

20 The salesman faced with the neuro-consumer 205

Points to remember 211

PART V THE NEURO-CONSUMER'S BRAIN INFLUENCED BY COMMUNICATION 213

Introduction 213

21 Advertising language 215

22 Subliminal influences of communication on the brain and the nudge concept 231

23 The subliminal influence of brands 250

Points to remember 269

PART VI THE NEURO-CONSUMER'S BRAIN INFLUENCED BY THE DIGITAL REVOLUTION 271

Introduction 271

24 When the digital revolution changes the brain's perception 272

viii Contents

25 The brain and the emergence of social networks 288

Points to remember 302

Conclusion: a vision of the future 304

Selected bibliography 307

Index 310