

Contents

Introduction	9
Methodology and concept	13
The formative era and the events leading to the emergence of architectural sculpture depicting work	15
From the late 19th century to Czechoslovakia's independence	16
The phenomenon of Constantin Meunier and his Monument to Labour	16
Otto Gutfreund – life and work as a theme for architectural sculpture	18
A happy era for all kinds of work The 1920s and 1930s	20
A culmination, or the beginning of the end? The 1940s and 1950s	31
The end of a great story The 1960s to the 1980s	34
Some remarks on the depiction of women	35
Celebrating the everyday from today's perspective	36
The most frequently occurring allegories and symbols	37
Selective catalogue of architectural sculpture with attributes of work, transport, commerce and finance	39
Selective listing of sculptors and designers of sculptures with the theme of work	335
Literature and sources	367