

Contents

List of boxes, figures and tables	viii
Introduction	x
Acknowledgements	xiii
Part 1 Foundations
1 Human resource management: what and why?	3
Fundamental characteristics of HRM	3
Strategic goals and tensions in HRM	7
Discerning and describing HR strategies	25
Conclusions	28
2 Strategy and strategic management	31
Strategic problems and the strategies of firms	31
Strategy and the life cycle of the firm	41
The process of strategic management	46
Conclusions	53
Part 2 General principles
3 Strategic HRM: 'best fit' or 'best practice'?	57
Strategic HRM: the best-fit school	58
Strategic HRM: the best-practice school	72
Conclusions	79

4 Strategic HRM and sustained competitive advantage	82
The resource-based view of the firm	82
Competences and dynamic capabilities	90
HR strategy and sustained advantage	96
Conclusions	102
5 Building a workforce: the challenge of interest alignment	104
Talent management: building and renewing a workforce	105
Job quality and organisational attractiveness	115
Conclusions	130
6 Management power, employee voice and social legitimacy	132
The contested nature and changing contours of employee voice	133
What are the impacts of employee voice systems?	143
Management style in employee relations	148
Conclusions	151
7 Workforce performance and the 'black box' of HRM	154
The AMO model of performance	155
Analysing the management process in HRM	161
Conclusions	175
Part 3 Specific contexts
8 HR strategy in manufacturing	179
Manufacturing and its impacts on models of HRM	180
Globalisation and HR strategies in manufacturing	191
Lean production and HRM	196
Conclusions	200
9 HR strategy in services	202
What's different about services?	202
HR strategy in private sector services	205
HR strategy in public sector services	216
Conclusions	226
10 HR strategy in multidivisional firms	228
Structure and control in multidivisional firms	229
The implications of private equity for the multidivisional company	234
Challenges for HR strategy in the multidivisional company	239
Conclusions	249
11 HR strategy in multinational firms	251
The growth of multinational firms	251
Multinational strategies, structures and value chains	253
What's different about HR strategy in the multinational firm?	261
Conclusions	271

12 Final thoughts: main themes and next steps	274
The main themes of this book	274
Developing a 'more strategic approach' to HRM	288
Conclusions	300

References	302
-------------------	-----

Author index	333
---------------------	-----

Subject index	344
----------------------	-----

Figures
1.1 The strategic goals of HRM	17
2.1 Four critical elements in establishing a viable business	32
2.2 Phases of industry evolution	42
3.1 The Harvard 'map of the HRM territory'	59
3.2 Linking HR practices to competitive strategy	69
3.3 The 'best fit' versus 'best practice' debate: two levels of analysis	80
4.1 HR architecture: a blended model	100
5.1 Mapping the quality of performance and potential in a workforce	108
6.1 Contrasts in, and examples of, employee voice	132
6.2 Voice systems and management style	150
7.1 The AMO model of individual performance	156
7.2 An expanded model of the 'black box' of HRM	173
8.1 High-involvement work systems: envisaged linkages and impacts	190
10.1 Three levels of strategic decision making in Anglo-American multinational firms	231