Contents

PF	PREFACE
A	CKNOWLEDGMENTS	XV
1	INTRODUCTION	1
	The Origins of Modern Social Theory: 1750-1920	1
	Modern Social Theory Defined	5
	The Central Subject Matter of Social Theory	6
	1 Political Change and the Revolution in France The Fall of Feudalism and the Elimination of Social	6
	Distinctions	8
	2 Economic Changes and the Development of Capitalism	9
	Depopulation and the Enclosure Movement	10
	Capitalist Development and the Decline of the Guild
	System	12
	3 The Rise of Individualism	13
	The Two Philosophies of Knowledge: Idealism and
	Empiricism	16
	Classical Idealism	16
	Hegelian Idealism	19
	Hegel's Theory of Development	22
	Empiricism and the View from Science	23
	The Development of Positivism	24
2	KARL MARX	27
	The Historical Context of Karl Marx's Work	27
	Rejection of Hegel and the Shift to Materialism	28
	Materialism as a Theoretical Perspective	32
	The German Ideology	33
	The Materialist Theory of History	34
	Means of Production	36
	Relations of Production	36
	Mode of Production, Forces of Production Laws of Historical Development: Ancient, Feudal	38
	and Capitalist Forms of Ownership	40

Marx's Theory of Ideology	43
History of the Term in Hegel and Marx	43
The Four Building Blocks of a Theory of Ideology	44
The Functions of Ideology	50
Explaining Contradictions	50
Stages of Capitalist Development: Shift from the
Economy of the Country to the Town	51
Marx's Economic Works	54
Marx, Capital and the Critique of Political Economy	55
Marx's Study of Capitalism: Capital	59
Capital Vol. 1, Part A: Economic and Social Elements of	33
Capitalism	60
Commodities: Use Value and Exchange Value	60
The Commensurability of Use with Exchange
	62
Consequences of Exchange on Social Relations	63
Labor Theory of Value and the Dual Character of	( -
Labor	65
Useful Labor	65
Abstract Labor	67
Capital Vol. 1, Part B: The Theory of Value	68
The Origin of Value and the Value Form	68
Relative and Equivalent Forms of Value	69
Fetishism of Commodities	71
Reification of Economy and Society	76
Capital Vol. 1, Part C: Theory of Surplus Value	77
Free Labor and the Emergence of Labor Power	78
Surplus Labor, Surplus Value and the Maintenance of the
Worker	80
The History of Surplus Labor: the Working Day	81
The Wage Form: Unpaid Labor	82
Capital Vol. 1, Part D: The Genesis of Capitalism	83
Primitive Accumulation	83
The Stages of Primitive Accumulation	85
Cooperation and the Division of Labor	85
Division of Labor: Simple and Complex Cooperation	86
Theory of Alienation	88
History of the Concept in Hegel	88
Feuerbach's Theory of Religious Alienation	88
Marx's Rejection of Feuerbach	90
Marx's Theory of Alienation and the 1844 Manuscripts	91
Marx's theory of Human Nature	92
Alienation from the Product	92
Alienation from Productive Activity	93
Alienation from Species	95
Alienation from Fellow Humans	97
Objectification and Alienation	97

Marx's Political Writings History of Marx's View of the State Hegel's View of the State Marx and the Materialist Origins of the State: Base and Superstructure The Historical Origins of the Modern State: the Period of State Formation The State and Civil Society in Smith, Hegel and Marx Marx's Dialectical View of History History of the Term 'Dialectic' Hegel's Dialectic Marx's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  8 EMILE DURKHEIM The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Ahomie and the Forced Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts Collective Representations
Hegel's View of the State Marx and the Materialist Origins of the State: Base and Superstructure The Historical Origins of the Modern State: the Period of State Formation The State and Civil Society in Smith, Hegel and Marx Marx's Dialectical View of History History of the Term 'Dialectic' Hegel's Dialectic Marx's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  8 EMILE DURKHEIM The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor		Marx's Political Writings
Marx and the Materialist Origins of the State: Base and Superstructure The Historical Origins of the Modern State: the Period of State Formation The State and Civil Society in Smith, Hegel and Marx Marx's Dialectical View of History History of the Term 'Dialectic' Hegel's Dialectic Marx's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic to History Engels and the Dialectic to History  Bemile Durkheim The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		History of Marx's View of the State
Superstructure The Historical Origins of the Modern State: the Period of State Formation The State and Civil Society in Smith, Hegel and Marx Marx's Dialectical View of History History of the Term 'Dialectic' Hegel's Dialectic Marx's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  SEMILE DURKHEIM The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		Hegel's View of the State
The Historical Origins of the Modern State: the Period of State Formation The State and Civil Society in Smith, Hegel and Marx Marx's Dialectical View of History History of the Term 'Dialectic' Hegel's Dialectic Marx's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic to History  Bengels and the Dialectic to History  BEMILE DURKHEIM The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		Marx and the Materialist Origins of the State: Base and
State Formation The State and Civil Society in Smith, Hegel and Marx Marx's Dialectical View of History History of the Term 'Dialectic' Hegel's Dialectic Marx's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic to History  Bengls and Resident to History  Bengls and Resident to History  Bengls and Resident to History  Bengls and Rousseau  The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau  The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Begmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		Superstructure
The State and Civil Society in Smith, Hegel and Marx Marx's Dialectical View of History History of the Term 'Dialectic' Hegel's Dialectic Marx's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  Bemile Durkheim  The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau  The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomic and the Forced Division of Labor Anomic and the Forced Division of Labor Anomic and the Forced Division of Labor Anomic and the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		The Historical Origins of the Modern State: the Period of
Marx's Dialectical View of History History of the Term 'Dialectic' Hegel's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  BEMILE DURKHEIM The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor		State Formation
Marx's Dialectical View of History History of the Term 'Dialectic' Hegel's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  BEMILE DURKHEIM The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor		The State and Civil Society in Smith, Hegel and Marx
History of the Term 'Dialectic' Hegel's Dialectic Marx's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  BEMILE DURKHEIM The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Hegel's Dialectic Marx's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  Besides and the Dialectic to History  Besides and Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau  The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Marx's Dialectic Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  Bellia Durkheim  The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau  The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Differences Between Marx and Hegel in the Dialectical View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  BEMILE DURKHEIM The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
View of History Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  BEMILE DURKHEIM The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Engels and the Dialectic Application of the Dialectic to History  BEMILE DURKHEIM The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Application of the Dialectic to History  Bemile Durkheim The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		Application of the Dialectic to History
The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		t and the second and the second secon
Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomic and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts	3	EMILE DURKHEIM
Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work The Problem of Individualism Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomic and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		The Historical Context of Emile Durkheim's Work
Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau  The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		Intellectual Influences on Durkheim's Work
The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		The Problem of Individualism
The Division of Labor in Society Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		Individualist Theories of Hobbes and Rousseau
Central Thesis Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Characteristics of Mechanical and Organic Solidarity The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
The Common Conscience Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Systems of Laws and Social Solidarity: Repressive and Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Restitutive Sanctions Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Penal Law and Repressive Sanctions Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Contract Law and Restitutive Sanctions Transition from Penal Law to Contract Law Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Segmental and Advanced Societies: The Causes of the Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor: Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Division of Labor Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor: Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Segmental Societies Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor: Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Characteristics of Advanced Societies Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor: Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Transition from Segmental to Advanced Societies Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor: Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Main Causes of the Division of Labor A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor: Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
A Definition of the Division of Labor Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor: Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Individualism and the Division of Labor Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor: Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Abnormal Developments in the Division of Labor: Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
Anomie and the Forced Division of Labor  The Rules of Sociological Method  Aim of the Rules  The Existence of Social Facts
The Rules of Sociological Method Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts		*
Aim of the Rules The Existence of Social Facts
The Existence of Social Facts
Collective Representations
1		Collective Representations

The Characteristics of Social Facts	155
Observations of Social Facts	156
Problems in Observing Social Facts	156
Distinction between Normal and Pathological	157
Crime as a Normal Phenomenon	158
Social Morphology and the Classification of Social
Types	159
Rules for the Explanation of Social Facts	161
Durkheim's Study of Suicide	163
Historical Background	163
A Social Theory of Suicide	164
The Social Suicide Rate	164
Suicide and Social Integration	166
Suicide, the Integrative Pole: Egoistic and Altruistic Suicide	167
Religious Integration and Egoistic Suicide	168
Family Integration and Egoistic Suicide	172
Political Integration and Egoistic Suicide	175
Explanation of Egoism and Egoistic Suicide	176
Altruistic Suicide and Social Integration	177
Military vs Civilian Suicides	180
Suicide, the Regulative Pole: Anomic and Fatalistic	100
Suicide Suicide	181
Causes of Anomie and the Role Played by the
Economy	185
History of the Term Anomie	186
Fatalistic Suicide	187
The Elementary Forms of the Religious Life	188
The Historical Context of the Work	188
Fundamental Aims of the Work	189
Durkheim's Search for a 'Positive' Definition of Religion	189
Sacred and Profane
	191
The Search for the Most Elementary Religion	192
The Nature of Totemism and Totemic Belief	194
The Clan, the Totem and the Universe: the Fundamental Organizing Principle	196
Totemism and the Concept of Religious Force	197
The Nature of Positive and Negative Interdicts	198
Religion and the Social Origins of the Categories of
Thought: Durkheim's Theory of Knowledge	200
Durkheim's Evidence: Space	202
Durkheim's Evidence: Time as a Social
Category	203
Durkheim's Evidence: the Religious Origin of the Concept of Cause	204

Contents	xi

Categories of Religious Rites and their Social	205
Functions	205
Sacrificial Rites	206
Imitative Rites and the Principle of Causality	208
Representative Rites	209
Piacular Rites	210
The Social Nature of Ceremony and the Representation	011
of the Group	211
4 MAX WEBER	212
The Historical Context of Max Weber's Work	212
Weber's Theoretical Perspective and Fundamental Themes in his Work	214
Debate with Marx	215
View of History and Social Causation	215
The Theme of Rationalization in Weber's Work	217
Rationalization Defined	218
Calculation	219
The Distinction between Rationality and
Rationalization	220
The Theme of Capitalism in Weber's Work	223
General Economic History	223
Economic Background	224
The Role of Guilds in Capitalist Development	226
Non-economic Factors in Capitalist Development:
Rationality, Law, Citizenship and the State	226
Rational Capitalism and the Growth of the 'Gain
Spirit'	230
Class, Status and Party	232
Weber's Theory of Social Class: Class and Market
Situation	233
Action Flowing from Class Interests	235
Historical Types of Class Struggle	236
Weber's Concept of the Status Group: the Separation of
Status from Class	238
Characteristics of Status Groups	240
Status Groups and the Formation of Communities	242
Political Parties	243
The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism	243
Aims of Weber's Study	244
Weber's Central Thesis	244
The 'Spirit' of Capitalism	245
Distinctiveness of the 'Spirit' in Modern Capitalism:
Traditional vs Modern Capitalism	247
Calvinism and Capitalism	248

The Link Between Salvation and Work and between
Religious Teaching and the Commercial Spirit	251
Asceticism, Capitalism and the Transformation of the
'Calling'	253
Weber's Methodology and Theory of Knowledge in the Social
Sciences	255
Historical and Philosophic Background of Weber's Methodology	256
Wilhelm Windelband's Criticism of the Natural Sciences	257
Heinrich Rickert and the Debate between the Natural and Social Sciences	260
The Methodenstreit of the 1880s: Controversy over Method
Weber's Contribution to the Methodenstreit: Concept
Formation, Values and Social Science	267
Ideal Types	270
Weber's Theory of Social Action	273
Two Types of Understanding: Weber's Interpretive
Sociology	276
Types of Social Action	279
Weber's Political Writings and the Theory of Legitimate	,
Domination	282
Charismatic Domination	284
Charismatic Domination and Administration	287
Traditional Domination	288
Patrimonial and Patriarchal Forms of
Administration	289
Patriarchal Authority and the Edict	291
Legal Domination	291
Statute vs the Edict	292
Weber's Study of Bureaucracy	293
Historical Context of Bureaucracy	293
Distinction between Administratively Oriented Societies
and Bureaucratic Societies	294
Factors Leading to Bureaucratization	296
Key Concepts in Weber's Study of Bureaucracy	297
The Technical Superiority of Bureaucracy	298
Characteristics of Bureaucracy	300
Concept of the 'Office' in Bureaucratic Organization	301
Bureaucracy and Law	302
The Leveling of Social Differences	303
Consequences of Bureaucracy	304
5 CONCLUSION	305
Sociological Theory in America	305
Developments in American Sociology	306
20.010pmonts in runorioun boolology	300

Contents	xiii
GLOSSARY OF CONCEPTS	308
Marx	308
Durkheim	325
Weber	337
BIBLIOGRAPHY	348
INDEX	356