

CONTENTS

List of Tables and Figures	vii
----------------------------	-----

Contributor Biographies	xi
-------------------------	----

Introduction

Curriculum Making: A Conceptual Framing	1
Mark Priestley, Stavroula Philippou, Daniel Alvunger and Tiina Soini

Chapters

1. National Curriculum Making as More or Less Expressions of and Responses to Globalization	29
Bob Lingard
2. 'Sites' of Curriculum Making in Cyprus: Tracing the Emergence and Transformation of Expert Teacher-Subjects	53
Stavroula Kontovourki, Eleni Theodorou and Stavroula Philippou
3. The Ongoing Curriculum Reform in Portugal: Highlighting Trends, Challenges and Possibilities	77
Ana Mouraz and Ariana Cosme
4. Post-socialist Curricular Reform in Czechia: Multiple Actors and Their Blame Games	99
Dominik Dvořák

5. Integral Curriculum Review in the Netherlands: In Need of Dovetail Joints Nienke Nieveen and Wilmad Kuiper	125
6. The Case of Curriculum Development in England: Oases in a Curriculum Desert? Gemma Parker and David Leat	151
7. Curriculum Reform in Scottish Education: Discourse, Narrative and Enactment Walter Humes and Mark Priestley	175
8. The Craft of Curriculum Making in Lower Secondary Education in Ireland Majella Dempsey, Audrey Doyle and Anne Looney	199
9. Understanding Transnational Curriculum Policies and Curriculum Making in Local Municipal Arenas: The Case of Sweden Daniel Alvunger and Ninni Wahlström	223
10. Shared Sense-making as Key for Large Scale Curriculum Reform in Finland Tiina Soini, Kirsi Pyhältö and Janne Pietarinen	247
Conclusions: Patterns and Trends in Curriculum Making in Europe Daniel Alvunger, Tiina Soini, Stavroula Philippou and Mark Priestley	273
Index	295