

Table of content

Introduction	7
Igor Blažević
Opening Panel: Reform and Lustration, Discontinuity and Continuity	11
Steering Between Legitimacy and Professionalism	12
Jiří Schneider
The Challenge of Judging People by the Previous Regime's Files	14
Ján Čárnogurský
The Czech Experience: the State Security's Dissolution and the Lustration Law	17
Jan Ruml
Why the Normative Order is the Priority, not Economics	22
Vojtěch Cepl
The Hungarian Experience: Failing to Make Accountability Happen	25
Ferenc Koszeg
Workshop 1: Dismantling or Reforming the Intelligence Services	29
Have We Succeeded?	30
Jaroslav Spurný
Starting from Scratch	32
Oldřich Černý
Overcoming Identity Crisis through New Challenges	34
Juraj Kohutiar
Make Parliamentary Control Meaningful	37
Andor Šándor
Turbulent Developments in Slovakia after the Split	40
Ivan Šimko
Workshop 2: Reforming the Interior Ministry and the Police	45
Main challenges: Political Interference and Corruption	46
Milan Žitný
Police: a Protected Island of Communist Heritage	49
Ferenc Koszeg

Introduction

Igor Blažević, People in Need

Police Reform Still a Long Way to Go Jan Ruml	55
The Slovak Case Ivan Šimko	59
Workshop 3: Archives	63
The Slovak Institute of National Memory Miroslav Lehký	64
What Happened to the Secret Police Archives in Poland Zbigniew Nawrocki	67
Ongoing Controversies with the Polish Archives Irena Lasota	71
The Fate of the Former GDR's Archives Tomáš Vilímek	74
The Importance of Founding the Institute for the Study of Totalitarian Regimes Pavel Žáček	78
Workshop 4: Reforming the Army	83
The Effect of International Developments Ivan Gabal	84
NATO Membership as a Driving Force for Reform Bánk L. Boros	86
Transforming an Obsolete Colossus into a Modern Army Stanislav Koziej	90
Establishing Civilian and Democratic Control over the Army Ivo Samson	93
Short Sighted Planning and Long-Term Consequences Jiří Šedivý	97