

Content:

Chapter 1:	9
--------------------------	---

Practical orientated preparations for job entry

Chapter 2:	34
--------------------------	----

Intercultural preparation of students for their stay in the Czech Republic or in Germany

Chapter 3:	79
--------------------------	----

Study Motivation and Career Motivation

Chapter 4:	109
--------------------------	-----

Talent Management

Chapter 5:	142
--------------------------	-----

Leadership Styles in multinational organisations

Contents

1. Cultural differences between both countries

1.1. Introduction

1.2. Different aspects

- 1.2.1. A planning culture versus a spontaneous culture
- 1.2.2. Relationships and communication
- 1.2.3. Business negotiation
- 1.2.4. The German subject orientation versus the Czech people orientation
- 1.2.5. Devaluation of structures versus revaluation of structures
- 1.2.6. A simultaneous culture versus a consecutive culture
- 1.2.7. Person oriented control versus rule oriented control
- 1.2.8. Diffusion of personality and areas of life vs. separation of personality and areas of life
- 1.2.9. High context versus low context
- 1.2.10. Conflict avoidance versus conflict confrontation
- 1.2.11. Fluctuating self assurance versus stable self assurance

1.3. Mixture aspects

- 1.3.1. Gift etiquette

1.4. Similar aspects

- 1.4.1. The German and Czech home
- 1.4.2. Meeting etiquette
- 1.4.3. Dining etiquette
- 1.4.4. Business meetings
- 1.4.5. Dress etiquette

2. Advantages of mutual understanding and competent cooperation

2.1. Introduction

2.2. Strategies and the advantages and disadvantages of each cultures

- 2.2.1. Strategies
- 2.2.2. Advantages and disadvantages of person and subject orientation
- 2.2.3. Advantages and disadvantages of devaluation and revaluation of structures
- 2.2.4. Advantages and disadvantages of simultaneity and consecutivity
- 2.2.5. Advantages and disadvantages of person oriented and rule oriented control
- 2.2.6. Advantages and disadvantages of diffusion and separation of personality and areas of life
- 2.2.7. Advantages and disadvantages of high and low context
- 2.2.8. Advantages and disadvantages of conflict avoidance and conflict confrontation
- 2.2.9. Advantages and disadvantages of fluctuating self assurance and stable self assurance
- 2.2.10. Conclusion

2.3. Prejudices and advantages of mutual understanding

2.4. Advantage of the ability to understand other languages

2.5. Conclusion

3. Development of student exchanges between Czechs and Germans

3.1. Introduction: Exchanges in general

3.2. Conditions for successful cooperation

3.3. Possibilities at our Universities

3.4. Organizations providing programs abroad

- 3.4.1. SOCRATES / ERASMUS
- 3.4.2. LEONARDO DA VINCI
- 3.4.3. Government scholarships from Ministry of Education
- 3.4.4. TANDEM
- 3.4.5. DAAD (der Deutsche Akademische Austauschdienst)
- 3.4.6. CZECH-GERMAN FUND OF FUTURE
- 3.4.7. AEGEE
- 3.4.8. AIESEC
- 3.4.9. IAESTE
- 3.4.10. BUDDY System
- 3.4.11. International Student Club (ISC)
- 3.4.12. Studies on foreign universities

3.5. My personal exchange experience

- 3.5.1. First step after having found a job abroad – arranging documents and visa
- 3.5.2. Second step – getting to know the country you are travelling to
- 3.5.3. Third step – Packaging and saying “goodbye”
- 3.5.4. Personal Conclusion

4. Suggestions on training issues (preparation for the stay, coping strategies, etc.)

4.1. Introduction

4.2. General aspects for the preparation

- 4.2.1. Learning of phrases for the everyday life
- 4.2.2. Learning of the pronunciation
- 4.2.3. Official holidays
- 4.2.4. Important Phone Numbers
- 4.2.5. The Czech currency
- 4.2.6. Train and bus connections
- 4.2.7. The German objectiveness
- 4.2.8. The Czech practical orientation
- 4.2.9. Dealing with time
- 4.2.10. Form of address
- 4.2.11. Behavior at a private invitation
- 4.2.12. The envy
- 4.2.13. The Czech quiet manner

4.3. Preparation for the job entry (students)

- 4.3.1. Introduction
- 4.3.2. Speculative application
- 4.3.3. Job fairs
- 4.3.4. Work placement
- 4.3.5. Newspapers
- 4.3.6. Companies directories
- 4.3.7. Internet
- 4.3.8. Embassies and chamber of commerce

4.4. Preparation on cultural differences

- 4.4.1. Recommendations for dealing with subject orientation versus people orientation
- 4.4.2. Recommendations for dealing with Devaluation of structures versus revaluation of structures
- 4.4.3. Recommendations for dealing with simultaneity versus consecutivity

4.4.4. Recommendations for dealing with Person oriented control versus rule oriented control

4.4.5. Recommendations for dealing with Diffusion vs. separation of personality and areas of life

4.4.6. Recommendations for dealing with High context versus low context

4.4.7. Recommendations for dealing with Conflict avoidance versus conflict confrontation

4.4.8. Recommendations for dealing with Fluctuating self assurance versus stable self assurance

4.5. Trainings

4.5.1. Introduction

4.5.2. Trainee programs

4.5.3. Intercultural E-training and E-coaching

4.5.4. Contrast learning with cultural standard pairs

4.5.5. Getting feedback about the status-quo of the interaction

4.6. Our own conclusion