

Contents

Chapter 1: Introduction: the European context of Czech cultural sector (Petr Dostál, Markéta Dianová, Jan Hanzlík)	11
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------

Part One: The European context of cultural values, activities and employment

Chapter 2: The European Union, cultural values and cultural activities (Petr Dostál)	17
2.1. Introduction	17
2.2. The institutional context of the European Union: three perspectives ..	18
2.2.1. Supranational perspectives	20
2.2.2. Intergovernmental perspectives	21
2.2.3. Confederal consociational perspective	22
2.3. Differences in trust in the EU (public opinion survey May 2012)	25
2.4. Basic historical religious-cultural typology of the EU member states ..	29
2.5. Post-materialism and differentiation in cultural and socio-political values orientations (public opinion survey 2012).....	30
2.6. Differentiation in participation in cultural activities (public opinion survey February – March 2007).....	37
2.7. Conclusion: the positions of Czech society	40
Chapter 3: The European context of creative cultural industries and employment (Petr Dostál)	43
3.1. Introduction	43
3.2. Clarification of notions of creative cultural industries, cultural employment and so-called creative class	43
3.3. Differentiation in cultural employment (survey 2009)	46
3.4. Conclusions: the position of Czech cultural sector	52

Chapter 4: Differences in cultural participation and cultural employment: postulated explanatory models for the European Union (Petr Dostál)	55
4.1. Introduction	55
4.2. Explanatory model of post-materialist dimension	57
4.3. Explanatory model of cultural participation dimension	58
4.4. Explanatory models of cultural employment dimensions	60
4.5. Differentiated EU context of cultural sectors: results of explanatory modelling	63
4.6. Methodological notes	65
4.7. References.....	71

Part Two: Case Studies

Chapter 5: Czech cultural centres and their role in economic and cultural diplomacy (Markéta Dianová)	79
5.1 Introduction	79
5.2 Less or more competences?	79
5.3 New logo is not enough	83
5.4 New architecture of state promotion – a step forward or trading water?	84
5.5 Conclusion	86
5.6 References.....	87

Chapter 6: Permanent innovations: on some strategies of Czech single-screen cinema operators after 1989 (Jan Hanzlík, Alžběta Stránská)	89
6.1. Introduction	89
6.2. Multiplexing and digitization.....	89
6.2.1. The impact of multiplexing and digitization on Czech film exhibition	91
6.2.2. Cooperation and vertical integration	94
6.3. Case study: Cinema Royal	95
6.4. Conclusion	97
6.5. References.....	97

Chapter 7: Czech specific approach to churches and church-related monuments
(Vojtěch Kouba)	101
7.1. Introduction	101
7.2. Religiosity in the Czech Republic	101
7.3. Position of churches in the Czech Republic	107
7.4. Saving churches and church-related buildings	112
7.5. Conclusions	114
7.6. References.....	116
Chapter 8: Social responsibility of SMEs operating in culture
(Jitka Srpová, Jan Misař)	119
8.1. Introduction	119
8.1.1. Brief description of the CSR concept and Its importance	120
8.2. Selected research projects undertaken in the field of CSR on SMEs	122
8.2.1. Attitude of companies to CSR in Luxembourg (2008)	122
8.2.2. CSR of SMEs in Denmark (2008).....	123
8.2.3. Being responsible SME – Portugal (2007)	125
8.2.4. Market Vision CZE (2007)	127
8.3. Conclusions of empirical pilot research – Pacov (2012)	128
8.4. Conclusion	129
8.5. References.....	130
Chapter 9: Strategy of subjects in the cultural sector
(Ivana Svobodová, Jana Müllerová)	133
9.1. Introduction	133
9.1.1. Definition of terms	133
9.1.2. Strategic management of SMEs in the cultural sector in Europe ...	134
9.2. Specific strategic management and strategy of SMEs in the cultural sector	138
9.3. A practical example: principles of strategic planning in culture and arts in the USA as useful inspiration for the European and Czech cultural sector.....	142
9.4. References.....	145

Chapter 10: Culture consumption and leisure time activities of consumers: segmentation of the Czech market (Hynek Jansa, Zuzana Chytková, Jitka Černá, Miroslav Karliček)	147
10.1. Introduction	147
10.2. Segmentation of the leisure time market	148
10.3. Results of the analysis	150
10.4. Seven Segments	144
10.5. Conclusions	170
10.6. References	170
Czech Abstract.....	172
English Abstract	173
Index of Subjects	175