

contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xvii

PART ONE

ANTHROPOLOGY AND DEVELOPMENT

1 Anthropology as a Science of Discovery	3
A Different Way of Seeing, 3
How Anthropologists Work, 6
Development as a Cross-Cultural Encounter, 20
Summary of Chapter 1, 27
2 The Rise of the Development Industry	30
A World Out of Balance, 30
Development as a Global Project, 32
Today's Development Industry, 36
The Evolution of Development Policy and Practice, 44
Summary of Chapter 2, 61
3 Putting Anthropology to Work	65
Anthropology and the Colonial Past, 65
Development of an Applied Perspective in U.S.
Anthropology, 66
Varieties of Anthropological Application, 68
Academic, Applied, and Practicing Anthropology, 68
Anthropological Practice, 69
Development Anthropology Today, 71
The Dialectics of Application, 77
Summary of Chapter 3, 85

PART TWO
DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS EXAMINED

4	The Nature of Development Projects	91
	Characteristics of Projects, 91
	The Structure and Life Cycle of Projects, 93
	Approaches to Project Planning, 98
	Project Development as an Emergent Problem, 103
	Anthropology and Project Development, 105
	Summary of Chapter 4, 113
5	Information in Project Development	115
	Project Levels, 115
	Integrating Project Levels, 116
	Identifying Project Stakeholders, 120
	Learning About Stakeholder Communities, 128
	Managing Information Gathering, 140
	Summary of Chapter 5, 141
6	Framing Projects	144
	Project Purposes, 144
	Project Strategies, 149
	Project Sustainability, 159
	Local Participation, 160
	Predicting Project Impact, 167
	Summary of Chapter 6, 169
7	Managing Projects	173
	Management Needs in Project Development, 173
	Organizational Culture, 174
	Decisionmaking, 179
	Negotiation and Conflict Resolution, 186
	Technical Assistance and Counterpart Relationships, 193
	Summary of Chapter 7, 198
8	Assessing Projects	200
	The Purposes of Assessment, 200
	Monitoring and Evaluation, 203
	Context-Based Assessment, 204

Learning Project Lessons, 210
Development Ethnography, 213
Summary of Chapter 8, 215

PART THREE THE WAY AHEAD

9	Reforming the Development Industry	223
	Development at Century's End, 223
	A Failure to Learn, 232
	Possibilities for Reform, 238
	Summary of Chapter 9, 241
10	Redirecting Anthropology	247
	Anthropology and Development: The Difficult Encounter, 247
	Anthropologists and Administrative Culture, 250
	Becoming a Profession, 253
	Changing the Academy, 254
	The Way Ahead, 260
	Summary of Chapter 10, 262
11	A New Development Paradigm?	264
	Where We Are, 264
	Opportunity and Danger, 266
	A New Development Paradigm, 268
	Changing the Way Our Institutions Think, 273
	Summary of Chapter 11, 281
	Appendix: Becoming a Development Anthropologist	285
	Glossary	307
	References	319