Contents

Note to Readers vii
Contributors ix
Acknowledgements xi

1. Introduction: A Guided Tour of Conceptual Engineering and Conceptual Ethics 1
Herman Cappelen and David Plunkett

Abstracts of Chapters 27

2. Revisionary Analysis without Meaning Change (Or, Could Women Be Analytically Oppressed?) 35
Derek Ball

3. Minimal Substantivity 59
Delia Belleri

4. Reactive Concepts: Engineering the Concept CONCEPT 79
David Braddon-Mitchell

5. Strategic Conceptual Engineering for Epistemic and Social Aims 100
Ingo Brigandt and Esther Rosario

6. Never Say 'Never Say "Never"'? 125
Alexis Burgess

7. Conceptual Engineering: The Master Argument 132
Herman Cappelen

8. Preliminary Scouting Reports from the Outer Limits of Conceptual Engineering 152
Josh Dever

9. Descriptive vs. Ameliorative Projects: The Role of Normative Considerations 170
E. Díaz-León

10. Variance Theses in Ontology and Metaethics 187
Matti Eklund

11. Neutralism and Conceptual Engineering 205
Patrick Greenough

12. Going On, Not in the Same Way 230
Sally Haslanger

13. The Theory–Theory Approach to Ethics 261
Frank Jackson

14. Conceptual Ethics and the Methodology of Normative Inquiry 274
Tristram McPherson and David Plunkett

15. Conceptual Evaluation: Epistemic 304
Alejandro Pérez Carballo

16. Analyzing Concepts and Allocating Referents 333
Philip Pettit

17. The A-project and the B-project 358
Mark Richard

18. Talk and Thought 379
Sarah Sawyer

19. Philosophy as the Study of Defective Concepts 396
Kevin Scharp

20. Linguistic Intervention and Transformative Communicative Disruptions 417
Rachel Katharine Sterken

21. A Pragmatic Method for Normative Conceptual Work 435
Amie L. Thomasson

Index 459