

CONTENTS

1	Introduction	1
	Ewa Mazierska
 Part I State Policies and its Interpretation by Grassroots
2	Propagated, Permitted or Prohibited? State Strategies to Control Musical Entertainment in the First Two Decades of Socialist Hungary	31
	Ádám Ignácz
3	Pop-Rock and Propaganda During the Ceașescu Regime in Communist Romania	51
	Doru Pop
4	Estonian Invasion as Western Ersatz-pop	69
	Aimar Ventsel
5	The Eagle Rocks: Isolation and Cosmopolitanism in Albania's Pop-Rock Scene	89
	Bruce Williams

Part II The Function of 'Gatekeepers'

- 6 Censorship, Dissent and the Metaphorical Language of GDR Rock 109
David Robb
- 7 Folk Music as a Folk Enemy: Music Censorship
in Socialist Yugoslavia 129
Ana Hofman
- 8 'The Second Golden Age': Popular Music Journalism
during the Late Socialist Era of Hungary 149
Zsófia Réti
- 9 Youth Under Construction: The Generational Shifts
in Popular Music Journalism in the Poland of the 1980s 171
Klaudia Rachubińska and Xawery Stańczyk
- 10 The Birth of Socialist Disc Jockey: Between Music Guru,
DIY Ethos and Market Socialism 195
Marko Zubak

Part III Eastern European Stars

- 11 Karel Gott: The Ultimate Star of Czechoslovak
Pop Music 217
Petr A. Bílek
- 12 Czesław Niemen: Between Enigma and Political Pragmatism 243
Ewa Mazierska
- 13 Omega: Red Star from Hungary 265
Bence Csatári and Béla Szilárd Jávorszky

14	Perverse Imperialism: Republika's Phenomenon in the 1980s	283
	Piotr Fortuna
	Index	303