

CONTENTS

I. THE LEGACY OF THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY	5
1. The Noblemen's Commonwealth and its relationship to absolutist Europe	5
2. The formation of the noblemen's democracy	16
3. The multinational Commonwealth	24
4. Towards the magnates' Commonwealth	31
5. Changes in the international situation	42
6. New social attitudes and the 17th-century mentality	53
II. PERSONAL UNION WITH SAXONY	61
1. The beginnings of the Saxon Period	61
2. Saxony – the new partner of Poland and Lithuania	64
3. Efforts to unite Poland and Saxony	71
4. Imported absolutism	81
5. Europe and the Polish-Saxon union	87
III. ON THE BRINK OF ANARCHY	105
1. Economic decline and processes of disintegration	105
2. The magnates	114
3. The decay of the noble state	123
4. Foreign interference in the affairs of the Commonwealth	134
IV. THE EARLY ENLIGHTENMENT AND THE FIRST MEASURES OF REFORM	147
1. Spread of Enlightenment thought to the Commonwealth	147
2. Towards cultural revival	159
3. First ideas for the regulation of the Commonwealth	166
4. Reform or independence?	180
V. MATURINGS	191
1. The formation of a new structure of the nobility	191
2. Changes in the noble mentality	197
3. Advancement of the burghers	208
4. First changes in the position and attitude of the peasants	217
VI. THE ENLIGHTENED COMMONWEALTH AND THE STRUGGLE TO MAINTAIN IT	223
1. Transformation of the Commonwealth within its new boundaries	223
2. An unsuccessful attempt to introduce a new law code	231
3. Reformist thought in the 1780's	235
4. The Great Sejm	245
5. The Constitution of May 3rd.	253
6. The struggle to defend the reforms	259
INDEX	265