

Contents

List of tables and figures	page ix
List of contributors	xi
Preface and acknowledgements	xv
Glossary and abbreviations	xvii

Introduction: a farewell to arms? From long war to uncertain peace in Northern Ireland
Michael Cox, Adrian Guelke and Fiona Stephen	I

PART I THE CONTEXT FOR THE PEACE PROCESS

1 The background to the Irish peace process
Martin Mansergh	8
2 From war to peace in Northern Ireland
Caroline Kennedy-Pipe	24

PART II GOOD FRIDAY AND BEYOND

3 The Belfast Agreement of 1998: from ethnic democracy to a multicultural, consociational settlement?
Paul Bew	40
4 The SDLP and the roots of the Good Friday Agreement
Sean Farren	49
5 The 1998 Agreement: Unionist responses
Arthur Aughey	62

PART III IMPLEMENTING THE AGREEMENT

6 A farewell to arms? Decommissioning and the peace process
Colin McInnes	78

- 7 A 'most difficult and unpalatable part' – the release of politically motivated violent offenders
Michael von Tangen Page 93
- 8 Policing and human rights after the conflict
Brice Dickson 104

PART IV SOCIETY AND THE ECONOMY AFTER THE TROUBLES

- 9 The human consequences of armed conflict: constructing 'victimhood' in the context of Northern Ireland's Troubles
Marie Smyth 118
- 10 Northern Ireland: developing a post-conflict economy
Mike Morrissey 136
- 11 Whatever happened to the women? Gender and peace in Northern Ireland
Kate Fearon 153
- 12 Promoting a culture of tolerance: education in Northern Ireland
Fiona Stephen 165

PART V INTERNATIONAL AND COMPARATIVE DIMENSIONS

- 13 From Anglo-Irish to British-Irish relations
Paul Gillespie 180
- 14 Europe and the Europeanisation of the Irish Question
Elizabeth Meehan 199
- 15 'Hope and history': the US and peace in Northern Ireland
John Dumbrell 214
- 16 'Comparatively peaceful': South Africa, the Middle East and Northern Ireland
Adrian Guelke 223
- 17 Peace in the Basque Country and Corsica?
Francesco Letamendia and John Loughlin 234
- 18 Northern Ireland after the Cold War
Michael Cox 249
- 19 The effect of violence on the Irish peace process
John Darby 263
- 20 Peace processes in the late twentieth century: a mixed record
Fred Halliday 275
- Conclusion: closure for the Irish Question?
Michael Cox, Adrian Guelke and Fiona Stephen 290

APPENDICES

1	Chronology of Northern Ireland from war to peace	298
2	The Good Friday Agreement (Belfast Agreement), 10 April 1998	301
3	'Towards A Lasting Peace', Sinn Féin Document, 1992 (extract)	326
4	Joint Declaration on Peace (Downing Street Declaration), 15 December 1993	327
5	A personal message from Rt Hon. Sir Patrick Mayhew, December 1993	331
6	The TUAS (Tactical Use of Armed Struggle) Document circulated by republican leadership, summer 1994	333
7	IRA Ceasefire Statement, 31 August 1994	336
8	Combined Loyalist Military Command (CLMC) Ceasefire Statement, 13 October 1994	337
9	A New Framework for Agreement 1995 (extract)	338
10	The Mitchell Principles, January 1996 (extract)	342
11	IRA Ceasefire Statement, 19 July 1997	343
12	'Propositions on Heads of Agreement' issued by British and Irish governments, 12 January 1998	344
13	The Hillsborough Statement, 1 April 1999	346
14	'The Way Forward' Joint Statement by British and Irish governments at Stormont, 2 July 1999	349
15	Statement issued by the IRA, 21 July 1999	351
16	Statement by Senator George Mitchell concluding the Review of the Northern Ireland Peace Process, 18 November 1999	352
	Index	355