

Contents

Introduction	1
Chapter One: Analytical Approaches to Studying the Disintegration of Yugoslavia
1.1. A Critical Assessment of Existing Approaches in Analyzing the Disintegration of Yugoslavia	13
1.1.1. The Economic Argument	15
1.1.2. The Ancient Ethnic Hatred Argument	18
1.1.3. The Nationalism Argument	19
1.1.4. The Cultural Argument	23
1.1.5. The International Politics Argument	25
1.1.6. The Role of Personality Argument	28
1.1.7. The Fall of Empires Argument	30
1.1.8. The Constitutional and Institutional Reasons Argument	32
1.2. The Analytical Approach of this Book	33
Chapter Two: The Kardelj Concept: Constructing the Fourth Yugoslavia (1974-1990)
2.0. Introduction	47
2.1. Four Constitutive Concepts	48
2.1.1. King Alexander's National Unity Yugoslavism (1918-39)	48
2.1.2. Prince Paul's Sporazum Yugoslavia (1939-41)	51
2.1.3. Tito's Brotherhood and Unity Federalist Yugoslavism	54
2.1.4. The Emergence of Kardelj's Concept	62
2.2. The Elaboration of Kardelj's Concept	68
2.2.1. A Biographical Note on Kardelj	68
2.2.2. Kardelj's Interpretation of Marxism	72
2.2.3. The Notion of State in Kardelj's Concept	77
2.3. Conclusion	81
Chapter Three: The Constitutional Debate 1967-1974: Why did Serbia accept the Kardelj concept and the 1974 Constitution?
3.0. Introduction	95

3.1. Did Serbia Accept Kardelj's Concept Voluntarily?	97
3.1.1 Relationship between Tito and Republican (Serbian) Leaders	97
3.1.2. Serbian Leaders and Serbian National Interests in the 1967-74 Debates	103
3.1.3. The Serbian Leaders and the Lack of Democratic Legitimacy	106
3.2. The Serbian Leadership between Ranković and Kardelj	108
3.3. Two Visions of Serbia and Yugoslavia Within Serbian Politics in May 1968	113
3.3.1. Discourse One: Ćosić and Marjanović	115
3.3.2. Discourse Two: The Majority of the Serbian Central Committee	119
3.4. Conclusion	124

Chapter Four: The Economic Crisis: The (Lack of) Response of the Yugoslav Political Elite to Economic Crisis in the Early 1980s

4.0. Introduction	141
4.1. "Boalization": Associated or Disintegrated Labor?	142
4.2. Debating the Causes of the Crisis	147
4.3. Government and Economists vs. Party Leadership and Republican Leaders	150
4.4. The International Factors	155
4.5. The Response of the Elite: Kraigher's Long-Term [sic!] Program of Stabilization	159
4.6. The Source of Regime Stability: the "Syndrome of Radical Egalitarianism"	162
4.7. Conclusion	164

Chapter Five: The Political System Reexamined: The Serbian Question and the Rise of the Defenders and Reformers of the Constitution (1974-1984)

5.0. Introduction	171
5.1. The Blue Book of 1977	172

5.2. The Kosovo Crisis	176
5.2.1. The Background of the Kosovo Crisis (1981)	176
5.2.2. The 1981 Protests in Kosovo: the Beginning of the State Crisis of Yugoslavia	183
5.2.3. The Reaction of the Elite	186
5.2.3.1. Discourse One: The Federal Political Elite Reaction to the Kosovo Protests of 1981	188
5.2.3.2. Discourse Two: The Serbian Political Elite Reaction to the Kosovo Protests of 1981	191
5.2.3.3. Discourse Three: The Provinces	196
5.2.3.4. The Position of Slovenia and Croatia: the “Defenders of the Constitution”	197
5.3. The First Direct Conflict: The Case of Draža Marković (1982)	200
5.4. Constructive Criticism and Critical Analysis of the Political System	205
5.5. Conclusion	213

Chapter Six: The Emergence of Alternative Concepts and the Reaction of the Political Elite in Serbia (1984-1988)

6.0. Introduction	226
6.1. Intellectual Dissent in Yugoslavia	226
6.1.1. The Rise of the “Critical Intelligentsia” as a Political Counterelite (1981-84)	228
6.1.1.1. Political Engagement	228
6.1.1.2. The Literature of Apocalypse	231
6.2. The (Croatian) Political Elite’s Reaction: The White Book (1984)	234
6.3. Serbia between the White Book (1984) and the Memorandum (1986)	239
6.3.1. The Martinović Case and the Emergence of Public Protests in Serbia	239
6.3.2. Stambolić’s Initiatives	244
6.3.3. The “SANU Memorandum” and the Reaction of the Political Elite	248
6.4. Slobodan Milošević’s Discourse in 1984-1987	253
6.5. From Divisions to Unity: the Emergence of Institutionalists and

Revolutionists within the LCS (April-September 1987)	258
6.5.1. The Kosovo Polje Speech	258
6.5.2. The Student Case: "Differentiation" Within the Elite	261
6.5.3. The Paraćin Case and Its Interpretation	263
6.6. Institutionalists vs. Revolutionists-Toward the Last "Palace Putsch" in Yugoslavia	264
6.6.1. The Institutionalists	265
6.6.2. The Eighth Session of the LCS Central Committee (24-25 September 1987) Victory for the Revolutionists	268
6.6.3. Milošević's Interpretation of Titoism: Return of the third concept of Yugoslavia	272
6.7. Why Did the Others Support Milošević?	274
6.8. The Aftermath: Toward the "Antibureaucratic Revolution"	282
Chapter Seven: Slovenia and Serbia: the Final Years of Yugoslavia (1988-1990)
7.1. Constitutional Changes and the "Antibureaucratic Revolution"	308
7.2. Slovenia and Serbia: Divisions between the Intellectual Elites	312
7.3. The Slovene National Program (1986-87)	314
7.4. Reaction of the Slovene Political Elite	322
7.5. The "Slovene Spring" 1988: Army vs. Slovenia	327
7.6. The Consequences of the Slovene Spring for the LCY	331
7.7. The Final Battle: Changing the Rules of the Game	332
7.8. The LCY Membership Divided	343
7.9. The Last Hours: the 14th (Extraordinary) LCY Congress	349
7.10. The End of the Party and the End of the State	351
7.11. The Last Hope: Marković's Attempt to Unite Yugoslavia Without the LCY	353
7.12. Conclusion	361
Bibliography	375