

Contents

1	The Discursive Psychology of Political Communication	1
	Cristian Tileagă, Mirko A. Demasi, and Shani Burke
Part 1	Political Communication of Contentious Politics	33
2	Accusations and Denials of Racism in Dialogical Context	35
	Stephen Gibson
3	Lay Rhetoric on Brexit	63
	Eleni Andreouli
4	Extending the Boundaries of Political Communication: How Ideology Can Be Examined in Super-Rich Television Documentaries Using Discursive Psychology	89
	Philippa Carr
5	A Multimodal Discourse Analysis of ‘Brexit’: Flagging the Nation in Political Cartoons	115
	Henry W. Lennon and Laura Kilby

Part 2	Political Communication, Discourse, and New Media	147
6	The Discourse of Social Movements: Online Mobilising Practices for Collective Action	149
	Petra Sneijder, Baukje Stinesen, Maartje Harmelink, and Annette Klarenbeek
7	Analysing Multimodal Communication and Persuasion in Populist Radical Right Political Blogs	175
	Katarina Pettersson and Inari Sakki
8	“This Country Will Be Big Racist One Day”: Extreme Prejudice as Reasoned Discourse in Face-to-Face Interactions	205
	Shani Burke and Mirko A. Demasi
Part 3	Discursive Psychology, Discourse, and Social Problems	231
9	Presenting Support for Refugees as Naivety: Responses to Positive Media Reports About Refugees	233
	Lise Marie Børlie and Simon Goodman
10	Consensual Politics and Pragmatism in Parliamentary Discourse on the ‘Refugee Issue’	259
	Lia Figgou and Dimitra Anagnostopoulou
11	The Unsaid as Expressive and Repressive Political Communication: Examining Slippery Talk About Paid Domestic Labour in Post-apartheid South Africa	283
	Amy Jo Murray
	Index	303