

CONTENTS

1	Introduction	1
	Structure, Aims, and Objectives	7
2	The Dialectics of European Integration	21
	Identity Politics and the Imaginary Past	25
	Identitarian Closure: Europe's Uneasy Relationship with Muslim Immigration	42
	Concluding Remarks: European Autopoiesis	62
3	Citizenship in a Post-migrant Europe: Socio-Political Cohesion at Breaking Point?	95
	Political Elites Versus the People	97
	The Specter of Social Disintegration	106
	De-, Post-, Supra-, and Trans-Nationalizing Citizenship	119
	Concluding Remarks: What Future for European Civil Society?	130
4	Changing Logics of Migration: Immigrant Threat to National Sovereignty?	159
	From Interest to Culture: Changing Politics of Migration	163
	Refugees, Asylum, and the Reassertion of Sovereignty	184
	Concluding Remarks: Insular Logics, Bounded Imaginations	200

5	The Integration Paradox: Culturalizing Belonging at the End of the “Multiculturalist Era”	237
	The Retreat from Multiculturalism in a Post-migrant Europe	242
	Multiculturalism’s Threat to Liberal Universalism	251
	Symbiosis: From Liberalism of Rights to Multiculturalism of Fear	264
	Concluding Remarks: Regressive Universalism and the Chimera of Emancipatory Liberal Democracy	283
6	Synthesis: Grand Visions, Fractured Realities	317
	Liberalism in an Age of Fear	319
	The Refugee as Focal Point of Democratic Theorizing	324
	Selected Bibliography	335