

---

Contents

|  |      |
|--|------|
| Acknowledgements   | xii  |
| List of Illustrations  | xiii |
| Notes on Contributors  | xiii |
|    |      |
| IntroductionMary Luckhurst  | 1    |
|    |      |
| Part I Contexts   | 5    |
|    |      |
| 1 Domestic and Imperial Politics in Britain and Ireland:The Testimony of Irish TheatreVictor Merriman | 7    |
| 2 Reinventing EnglandDeclan Kiberd  | 22   |
| 3 Ibsen in the English Theatre in the Fin de SiècleKatherine Newey                                 | 35   |
| 4 New Woman DramaSally Ledger   | 48   |
|    |      |
| Part II Mapping New Ground, 1900–1939   | 61   |
|    |      |
| 5 Shaw among the ArtistsJan McDonald  | 63   |
| 6 Granville Barker and the Court DramatistsCary M. Mazer  | 75   |
| 7 Gregory, Yeats and Ireland's Abbey TheatreMary Trotter  | 87   |

---

|  |  |     |
|--|--|-----|
| 8  | Suffrage Theatre: Community Activism and Political CommitmentSusan Carlson  | 99  |
| 9  | Unlocking Synge TodayChristopher Murray   | 110 |
| 10   | Sean O'Casey's Powerful FireworksJean Chothia   | 125 |
| 11   | Auden and Eliot: Theatres of the ThirtiesRobin Grove  | 138 |
| Part III England, Class and Empire, 1939–1990 |  | 151 |
| 12   | Empire and Class in the Theatre of John Ardenand Margaretta D'ArcyMary Brewer                                       | 153 |
| 13   | When Was the Golden Age? Narratives of Loss and Decline:John Osborne, Arnold Wesker and Rodney AcklandStephen Lacey | 164 |
| 14   | A Commercial Success: Women Playwrights in the 1950sSusan Bennett   | 175 |
| 15   | Home Thoughts from Abroad: Mustapha MaturaD. Keith Peacock  | 188 |
| 16   | The Remains of the British Empire: The Plays of Winsome PinnockGabriele Griffin   | 198 |
| Part IV Comedy                                |  | 211 |
| 17   | Wilde's ComediesRichard Allen Cave  | 213 |
| 18   | Always Acting: Noël Coward and the Performing SelfFrances Gray  | 225 |
| 19   | Beckett's Divine ComedyKatharine Worth  | 237 |
| 20   | Form and Ethics in the Comedies of Brendan BehanJohn Brannigan  | 247 |
| 21   | Joe Orton: Anger, Artifice and AbsurdityDavid Higgins   | 258 |
| 22   | Alan Ayckbourn: Experiments in ComedyAlexander Leggatt  | 269 |
| 23   | 'They Both Add up to Me': The Logic of Tom Stoppard'sDialogic ComedyPaul Delaney                                    | 279 |

---

|                                   |   |     |
|-----------------------------------|---|-----|
| 24                                | Stewart Parker's Comedy of TerrorsAnthony Roche  | 289 |
| Part V War and Terror      |   | 299 |
| 25                                | A Wounded Stage: Drama and World War IMary Luckhurst   | 301 |
| 26                                | Staging 'the Holocaust' in EnglandJohn Lennard   | 316 |
| 27                                | Troubling Perspectives: Northern Ireland, the 'Troubles' and DramaHelen Lojek                              | 329 |
| 28                                | On War: Charles Wood's Military ConscienceDawn Fowler and John Lennard                                     | 341 |
| 29                                | Torture in the Plays of Harold PinterMary Luckhurst  | 358 |
| 30                                | Sarah Kane: From Terror to TraumaSteve Waters  | 371 |
| Part VI Theatre since 1968 |   | 383 |
| 31                                | Theatre since 1968David Pattie   | 385 |
| 32                                | Lesbian and Gay Theatre: All Queer on the West End FrontJohn Deeney  | 398 |
| 33                                | Edward Bond: Maker of MythsMichael Patterson   | 409 |
| 34                                | John McGrath and Popular Political TheatreMaria DiCenzo  | 419 |
| 35                                | David Hare and Political Playwriting: Between the ThirdWay and the Permanent WayJohn Deeney            | 429 |
| 36                                | Left in Front: David Edgar's Political TheatreJohn Bull  | 441 |
| 37                                | Liz Lochhead: Writer and Re-Writer: Stories, Ancient and ModernJan McDonald                                | 454 |
| 38                                | 'Spirits that Have Become Mean and Broken':Tom Murphy and the 'Famine' of Modern IrelandShaun Richards | 466 |
| 39                                | Caryl Churchill: Feeling GlobalElin Diamond  | 476 |

---

|    |   |     |
|----|---|-----|
| 40 | Howard Barker and the Theatre of CatastropheChris Megson                         | 488 |
| 41 | Reading History in the Plays of Brian FrielLionel Pilkington                     | 499 |
| 42 | Marina Carr: Violence and Destruction: Language, Space and LandscapeCathy Leeney | 509 |
| 43 | Scrubbing up Nice? Tony Harrison's Stagings of the PastRichard Rowland           | 519 |
| 44 | The Question of Multiculturalism: The Plays of Roy WilliamsD. Keith Peacock      | 530 |
| 45 | Ed Thomas: Jazz Pictures in the Gaps of LanguageDavid Ian Rabey                  | 541 |
| 46 | Theatre and TechnologyAndy Lavender  | 551 |
|    | Index   | 563 |