

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of plates	ix
List of tables	xvii
Abbreviations	xviii
Editors' and translators' notes	xix
Rachelle Taylor, Ariadne Lih and Emelyn Lih
Prefatory remarks	xxvi
Jean-Jacques Nattiez
Acknowledgements	xxxix
Preface to the original edition	xl
André Schaeffner
1 Origins of musical instruments in the human body	1
2 From dance jingles to castanets	22
3 From stamping tubes to xylophones	49
4 The organology of theater	68
5 Working and playing	75
6 Religion and magic	87
7 Solid bodies: rigid, flexible or tensioned	111
8 A genealogy of string instruments	155
9 Air instruments	192

10 Instruments, the evolution of music and the history of civilization	261
Appendix: Classification of musical instruments	321
Bibliography	328
Index	363