
Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
List of figures and illustrations	xi
Introduction	1
1 Emotional tropes in the courtroom: On display and representation of affect and emotion in court proceedings	14
Introduction	14
The courthouse building	17
The courtrooms	19
Cases and parties	22
Judges and lawyers	32
The audience	35
Pauses in the proceedings	36
Judicial space – logical, emotional and affective	39
Conclusion	45
2 Achilles' wrath and the law: Juridical space(s), striated and smooth	47
Introduction	47
Equity and law	49
Anatomies and topographies of law	53
Anorganism of the body. Striated space and smooth space	59
Achilles' wrath	62
3 Before the temple of justice: Reading Roman law reading	71
Introduction	71
Reading metonymy	74
Reading intertexts	77

Reading socio-legal ontology	78
Reading legal cartography	79
Reading paratextual interdictions	80
Embodying and incorporating the law (prosopopoeia)	84
Legitimation by precedent (hysteron proteron)	85
The temple of justice	86
Paratextual supplementarity	88
Conclusion	88

4 Factoring out justice: Imaginaries of community, law and the political in Ambrogio Lorenzetti and Niccolò Machiavelli 90

Introduction	90
The rope of concord	93
Containing faction: institutions of conflict and social struggle in Machiavelli's Discorsi	111
Factoring out justice from the domain of politics	119
Conclusion: the imaginary and the real	123

5 The juridical spaces of Venice: Reading and performing the law in/of *The Merchant of Venice 128

Introduction	128
Plot construction and place	130
Reading in Venice	136
Reading conversion	143

6 Mapping the law: Reading old maps of Strasbourg as constituting juridical space and representing judicial places 148

Introduction	148
Mapping the city, mapping the world	154
Strasbourg seen from the top of the cathedral tower	161
Reading seventeenth- and eighteenth-century military maps of Strasbourg	170
Reading eighteenth- and nineteenth-century city plans of Strasbourg	179
Conclusion	188

7 A modern trial: A study of the use of video-recorded testimony in the Swedish court of appeal and of its effects on social interaction and the constitution of judicial space 191

Introduction	191
---------------------	-----

The judicial procedure and the use of audio-visual media technologies in Svea hovrätt 195

Background and reasons for the reform of judicial procedure 201

Social interaction and the constitution of mediated and nested space in the court of appeal 208

Conclusion 230

Concluding remarks: On becoming juridical 232

Ways of spacing law and politics 232

Becoming juridical 240

Towards hybrid juridical spaces 243

References 249

Index 275