
Contents

Prologue: Regional Innovation Clusters and Global Economic Governance xi

PART I | THE EVOLUTION OF INNOVATION SYSTEMS AND
OF INFORMATION AND PRODUCTION DISRUPTION

- 1. National Innovation Systems 3
 - 1.1. Defining Innovation and Innovation Systems 4
 - 1.2. Changing National Innovation Systems: The American and Korean Experiences 6
 - 1.2.1. The Vertically Integrated Firm Model: The First Wave of Innovation after 1945 6
 - 1.2.2. The Rise of the Silicon Valley Model: The Second Wave 8
 - 1.2.3. Benchmarking Korea's Second Wave 12
 - 1.3. Trouble in Paradise? 14
- 2. Information and Production Disruptions: The Digital Platform Cluster System? 23
 - 2.1. Larger Economic Forces and Questions 25
 - 2.2. The Information and Production Disruptions 26
 - 2.2.1. The Information Disruption 27
 - 2.2.2. The Production Disruption 29
 - 2.3. The Dynamics of Digital Platform Clusters 30
 - 2.4. Synergies in Disruption 36
 - 2.4.1. Transformation of the Automotive Industry 36
 - 2.4.2. The Energy Grid 38
 - 2.5. Six Takeaways from the IPD 40
- 3. Two Cases and Policy Implications 49
 - 3.1. Monsanto: Disruption of a Traditional Market and Governance Innovations 50

- 3.2. Qualcomm: Large Technology Firms and the Growth of New Clusters 53
- 3.3. Issues for Governance 60
 - 3.3.1. Promoting a Trusted Digital Environment 60
 - 3.3.2. Global Economic Governance Practices: Challenges and a Trade Agenda 61
 - 3.3.3. Providing Market Access while Promoting Good Conduct 64
- 3.4. Conclusion: A Design Philosophy of Global Economic Governance 64

PART II | GLOBAL GOVERNANCE IN A TECHNOLOGICALLY VOLATILE ENVIRONMENT

- 4. Designing International Governance for the IPD: The Negotiating Challenge 71
 - 4.1. The Plan for Part II and III 71
 - 4.2. The Negotiating Landscape 73
 - 4.2.1. The Dispersion of Economic Power 74
 - 4.2.2. Turbulence and Market Leadership in the Global ICT Sector 76
 - 4.2.3. Shifting Leadership Roles in the World Economy 82
 - 4.2.4. The Rise of Civil Society 85
 - 4.2.5. The Nature of the Governance Challenge 87
- 5. Strategy and International Governance Regimes 94
 - 5.1. The Strategic Bargaining Problem 95
 - 5.1.1. Governance When the Strategic Problem Is Coordination 96
 - 5.1.2. Governance When Managing a Cooperation Problem 100
 - 5.2. A Design Philosophy and the Creation of an International Governance Regime 102
 - 5.2.1. Defining an International Governance Regime 103
 - 5.2.2. Testing the Idea in a More Traditional Regime: The WTO 107
 - 5.2.3. The Role of MSOs in International Governance Regimes 110
 - 5.2.4. A Concluding Synthesis 113

PART III | CREATING A TRUSTED DIGITAL ENVIRONMENT IN AN ERA OF QUASI-CONVERGENCE

- 6. Global Policy for the Cloud 125
 - 6.1. The Technology of the Cloud and Its Intersection with Digital Markets 126
 - 6.1.1. Understanding the Cloud 126
 - 6.1.2. The Cloud and Digitally Enabled Markets 129
 - 6.2. Measuring the Economic Stakes 131
 - 6.3. The Policy Importance of the Cloud 135
 - 6.4. The Political Economy Informing the Cloud Debate 144
 - 6.5. Government Policies: Attempts at Trade Deals to Set an International Baseline 152

7. Cybersecurity as a Governance Challenge 167

7.1. The Common Challenges 168

7.2. The Story of SWIFT 172

7.3. Consumer Protection and Credit Card Fraud in a Digital Era 181

8. Data Privacy 194

8.1. The Logic of Privacy Policy 195

8.2. The Search for International Baselines 198

8.3. The U.S.–EU Debate Regarding Privacy 202

8.4. MSOs and Privacy 210

8.4.1. Managing Privacy and Security Issues That Intersect in a Global MSO 210

8.4.2. Marketplace Accommodation 213

8.4.3. Innovations in Marketplace Governance 215

8.5. Summary Analysis 217

Appendix to Chapter 8: Possible Regime Principles 227

The 1980 and 2013 OECD Principles and 2011 APEC Principles 227

PART IV | CONCLUSION

9. Creating an International Governance Regime for the Digital Economy 233

9.1. Choices to Guide the Creation of a New Governance Regime 234

9.1.1. A Design and Governance Philosophy 234

9.1.2. Where Should the Reform of the Governance Process Begin? 235

9.2. An Overview of the DEA 238

9.3. Trade: Market Access Commitments 241

9.4. Privacy: Soft Rules as an Authoritative Baseline 246

9.5. Rules for a Trusted Digital Environment 247

9.6. Overview and Next Steps 254

SELECTED CITATIONS 263

INDEX 279