
Contents

List of Tables	ix
Editors' Preface	xi
Acknowledgements	xii
Glossary	xiv
Map	xvii
1 Understanding Demesne Lordship	1
[i] Introduction	1
[ii] The Historiography of Demesne Lordship	1
[iii] Criticising Demesne Lordship and Agrarian Dualism	5
[iv] Sources	7
2 The Myth of a Second Serfdom	10
[i] Introduction	10
[ii] The Meaning of Serfdom and Subjection	11
[iii] Regional Realities	13
[iv] Subjection in Demesne Lordship	22
[v] The View from Below	33
[vi] Conclusions	38
3 Explaining the Rise of Demesne Lordship and the Demesne Economy	40
[i] Introduction	40
[ii] Explaining the Establishment of Demesne Lordship	40
[iii] Market and Export Demand	43
[iv] The Consequences of the Thirty Years' War	48

[v]	Medieval Continuities	52
[vi]	Conclusions	56
4	A Fresh Characterisation of the Demesne Economic System	58
[i]	Introduction	58
[ii]	The Myth of the Expropriation of Tenant Farmers	58
[iii]	The Expansion and Extent of Demesne Farming	61
[iv]	Labour Rents	70
[v]	Seignorial Monopolies, Breweries and Distilleries	87
[vi]	The Economic Fortunes of the Demesne Economy	88
[vii]	Conclusions	92
5	A General Backwardness?	94
[i]	Introduction	94
[ii]	The Economic Consequences of Demesne Lordship	95
[iii]	Villagers' Living Standards	111
[iv]	Rural Social Structure	124
[v]	Conclusions	128
6	Towards a New Assessment	130
	Bibliography	136
	Index	149