

Contents

1	Introduction	1
	Mary Fargher, David Mitchell, and Emma Till
Part I Theorising Recontextualising Geography
2	The Challenge of ‘Recontextualisation’ and Future 3 Curriculum Scenarios: An Overview	9
	David Lambert, Tine Béneker, and Gabriel Bladh
3	Recontextualisation: Selecting and Expressing Geography’s ‘Big Ideas’	25
	Alaric Maude
4	Questioning Recontextualisation: Considering Recontextualisation’s Geographies	41
	Matt Finn
5	Reflecting on Knowledge and Primary Geography	55
	Simon Catling
6	A Call to View Disciplinary Knowledge Through the Lens of Geography Teachers’ Professional Practice	71
	Grace Healy
7	The Role of Students in the Recontextualisation and Transformation of Powerful Knowledge: A Study of Sixth Form Geography Students	89
	Daniel Whittall
8	Practising Powerful Geographical Knowledge to Understand Interdependence	109
	Osvaldo Muñoz Solari

9 Recontextualisation Continued: Designing and Evaluating Conceptual Learning in Geography Classes 129
Pola Serwene

10 Teaching About Space and Place: Everyday Geographies of Young People Living in the Slums of Nairobi, Kenya 149
Andreas Eberth

11 From Fast Fashion to Slow Fashion – Raising Awareness of Young People for Sustainable Production and Consumption 167
Christiane Meyer and Christine Höbermann

12 Conclusion 185
Mary Fargher, David Mitchell, and Emma Till