

Contents

Introduction	1
1. The Central Tradition: Its Value and Limits	19
I. The 'Perfectionism' of the Central Tradition	19
II. Aristotle on the Role of the Polis in Making Men Moral	21
III. Aquinas on the Moral Aims of Law and Government	28
IV. A Critique of Aristotle and Aquinas	35
V. The Value and Limits of Perfectionist Law and Policy	42
2. Social Cohesion and the Legal Enforcement of Morals: A Reconsideration of the Hart-Devlin Debate	48
I. The Hart-Devlin Debate	48
II. Devlin's Legal Moralism	51
III. Hart's Critique of Devlin	60
IV. A Communitarian Reinterpretation of the Disintegration Thesis	65
V. The Central Tradition versus Devlinism	71
3. Individual Rights and Collective Interests: Dworkin on 'Equal Concern and Respect'	83
I. Introduction	83
II. A Critique of Dworkin on Individual Rights and Collective Interests	85
III. Dworkin's Liberalism and the 'Right to Privacy' in American Political Debate	93
IV. Dworkin's Revised Argument from the Principle of Equality	97
V. Dworkin's Recent Critique of Moral Paternalism	102
VI. Conclusion	108

4. Taking Rights Seriously: Waldron on 'The Right To Do Wrong'	110
I. Rights and Wrongs	110
II. 'Rights' and the Grounds of Duties not to Interfere with Moral Wrongdoing	115
III. Taking Rights Seriously: Moral Rights and Humanly Important Choices	122
5. Anti-Perfectionism and Autonomy: Rawls and Richards on Neutrality and the Harm Principle	129
I. Two Types of Liberalism	129
II. Rawlsian Anti-Perfectionism	130
III. Anti-Perfectionism and Autonomy	139
6. Pluralistic Perfectionism and Autonomy: Raz on 'The Proper Way to Enforce Morality'	161
I. Perfectionist Liberalism	161
II. Joseph Raz's Perfectionism	162
III. The Value of Autonomy	173
IV. Perfectionist Autonomy and the Harm Principle	182
7. Toward a Pluralistic Perfectionist Theory of Civil Liberties	189
I. Introduction	189
II. Freedom of Speech	192
III. Freedom of the Press	208
IV. Privacy	210
V. Freedom of Assembly	217
VI. Freedom of Religion	219
VII. Conclusion	228
List of Works Cited	230
Index	235