

Contents

Acknowledgements — V

(Ex) Yugoslav and (South-East) European borders

Nenad Stefanov, Srdjan Radović

B/ordering the (post-) Yugoslav space: A European experience — 3

Milivoj Bešlin

“Faded scratches in marble”: Federal b/ordering of socialist Yugoslavia — 27

Dana Dolghin

Human rights: A b/ordering narrative in Central and Eastern Europe — 51

Making and mapping borders

Marko Zajc

Borders as reused objects: The case of Slovenia — 75

Peter Mikša, Matija Zorn

Boundary stones: Standing witnesses of World War II borders in present-day Slovenia — 99

Vedran Duančić

Mapping the uncertain: Difficulties with establishing the ethnic borders in interwar Yugoslavia — 125

Srdjan Radović

Mapping ethno-politics: Borders and cartographic representation in post-Yugoslav (virtual) space — 143

Living and overcoming borders

Petar Todorov

Production of territoriality in the Balkans: The border and the Monastery
St. Naum — 167

Kaja Širok

Imagining the borders of a nation: Narratives of remembrance in the Northern Adriatic area — 189

Tatjana Sekulić

Reshaping the borders of Bosnia and Herzegovina, from the Yugoslav Wars to the European integration — 203

Writing and sensing borders

Katharina Tyran

On word boundaries and blank spaces: Perceptions of orthography and writing reforms in the post-Serbo-Croatian language sphere — 225

Stefan Detchev

Food, borders, and interactions in South-East Europe (1830s–1870s) — 239

Ruža Fotiadis

Crossing culinary borders, blurring social boundaries: Balkan Grills in West Berlin — 261

Notes on contributors — 269

Index — 273