 1. THE ECONOMIC JUSTIFICATION FOR MERGER CONTROL
1.1 Introduction	1-001
2.2 Criteria for Assessing Market Performance	1-002
(a) Consumer welfare	1-003
(b) Total welfare	1-008
(c) Efficiency	1-009
(d) Analysis of criteria	1-010
1.3 The Effects of Mergers on Market Performance	1-012
(a) Efficiencies	1-013
(b) Market power	1-014
(c) The trade-off between efficiency and market power	1-023
1.4 Measurement of the Predicted Effects of Mergers on Market Performance	1-026
1.5 Empirical Evidence of the Effects of Mergers on Consumers	1-028

CONTENTS

1.6	Overview of Analysis
	(a) Theories of competitive harm	1-029
	(b) Framework for analysis	1-033
	(c) Rebutting theories of competitive harm	1-034
	(d) Unifying principles—incentives and abilities	1-035
	(e) Relevance of economic theory	1-036
2.	THE SIEC TEST AND OTHER LEGAL AND METHODOLOGICAL ISSUES
2.1	Introduction
2.2	The Objectives of EC Merger Control
2.3	The Change to the Substantive Test in the ECMR
	(a) The commission's 2001 consultation and 2002 proposals	2-008
	(b) Possible deficiencies in the “dominance” test	2-009
	(c) The adoption by the Council of “compromise” text	2-011
2.4	Interpreting The SIEC Test
	(a) Formally, the new test broadens the Commission's jurisdiction	2-012
	(b) What is meant by “significant impediment to effective competition”?	2-013
	(c) The “significant impediment to effective competition” test in practice	2-019
	(d) “De minimis” exception	2-020
	(e) “Dominant position”	2-021
	(f) Mergers involving existing monopolies	2-024
	(g) “Substantial part of the common market”	2-025
2.5	Burden and Standard of Proof
	(a) Burden of proof	2-026
	(b) Standard of proof	2-028
2.6	Period Over Which the Predicted Effects of the Merger are Examined Under the ECMR	2-035
2.7	Relationship Between the ECMR and Arts 81 and 82, National Regulatory Systems, Contractual Restrictions and State Aids
	(a) Arts 81 and 82	2-037
	(b) National regulatory systems	2-040
	(c) Contractual restrictions	2-041
	(d) State aids	2-042
2.8	Investigative Techniques	2-045
2.9	International Comity	2-049
3.	MARKET DEFINITION
3.1	Introduction	3-001
3.2	Product Market Definition: Introduction	3-005

CONTENTS

3.3	Product Market Definition: Demand-Side Substitution
	(a) The SSNIP test	3-006
	(b) Evidence: introduction	3-012
	(c) Pricing evidence	3-013
	(d) Shock analysis or event studies and other evidence of historic Switching	3-022
	(e) Switching costs	3-024
	(f) Functional interchangeability	3-025
	(g) Product characteristics	3-026
	(h) Trade relationships	3-027
	(i) Evidence of sellers' business decisions	3-029
	(j) Sellers' relative costs	3-030
	(k) Critical loss analysis	3-031
	(l) Demand characteristics	3-032
	(m) Previous cartel activity	3-033
	(n) Evidence from customers and competitors	3-034
	(o) International categorizations	3-035
3.4	Product Market Definition: Supply-Side Substitution
	(a) The SSNIP test	3-036
	(b) Evidence	3-037
3.4	Specific Issues in Product Market Definition
	(a) Continuous chains of substitution	3-038
	(b) Own label goods	3-039
	(c) Original equipment / replacement goods	3-040
	(d) Differentiated products	3-041
	(e) Captive production / in-house supplies	3-042
	(f) Secondary markets	3-044
	(g) Two-sided markets	3-046
	(h) Range and cluster goods	3-047
	(i) One-way markets	3-048
	(j) Outsourcers or resellers who sub-contract to actual suppliers	3-049
	(k) Durable goods	3-050
	(l) Recycled goods	3-051
	(m) New markets	3-052
	(n) Innovation markets	3-053
	(o) Technology	3-054
	(p) Procurement markets	3-055
	(q) Exploration, production and supply	3-056
	(r) Spot and long-term contracts	3-057
	(s) Physical and paper trading	3-058
	(t) Wholesale markets	3-059
	(u) Use of demand- and supply-side analysis	3-060
	(v) Programme and catalogue sales	3-061
3.6	Geographic Market Definition: Introduction	3-062

CONTENTS

3.7	Geographic Market Definition: Demand-Side Substitution
	(a) The SSNIP test	3-063
	(b) Evidence: introduction	3-064
	(c) Pricing	3-065
	(d) Trade flows and buying patterns	3-071
	(e) Transport and other transaction costs	3-076
	(f) Legal restrictions and capacity constraints	3-078
	(g) Customer requirements for local support services	3-079
	(h) Conditions of competition	3-080
	(i) Customers' procurement policies	3-081
	(j) EU Harmonisation and procurement legislation	3-082
	(k) Other harmonisation of product standards	3-083
	(l) National preferences, language and culture	3-084
3.8	Geographic Market Definition: Supply-Side Substitution	3-085
3.9	Specific Issues in Geographic Market Definition
	(a) "One-way" markets	3-086
	(b) Continuous chains of substitution	3-087
	(c) "Route by route" markets	3-088
	(d) Suppliers competing in both national and local markets	3-089
	(e) Smaller member states	3-090
	(f) Multi-plant operations	3-091
	(g) Competitive tenders and implants	3-094
3.10	Temporal Market Definition	3-095
4.	MARKET SHARES AND CONCENTRATION LEVELS
4.1	Introduction	4-001
4.2	Market Share Data
	(a) Units for measuring market shares	4-002
	(b) Calculating market shares	4-014
	(c) The use by the Commission of market share data	4-025
	(d) Interpreting market share data	4-028
4.3	Concentration Data	4-035
5.	THE COUNTERFACTUAL
5.1	Introduction	5-001
5.2	The Counterfactual	5-002
5.3	Other Transactions
	(a) Parallel mergers	5-005
	(b) Overlapping mergers	5-007
	(c) Applying the counterfactual to parallel and overlapping mergers	5-008

6. MARKET OPERATION

6.1	Introduction	6-001
6.2	Principal Economic Models of Market Operation	6-002
	(a) The Stackelberg leader-follower model	6-003
	(b) Limit pricing theory	6-004
	(c) Game theory	6-005
6.3	Dynamic Effects: Changes in the Market Over Time
	(a) Expanding markets	6-007
	(b) Static or declining markets	6-008
	(c) New markets	6-009
	(d) Innovation	6-011
	(e) Naturally concentrated markets	6-012
6.4	Competitive Interaction	6-013
	(a) Pricing	6-014
	(b) Costs	6-022
	(c) Products	6-023
	(d) Contractual terms	6-025
	(e) Network effects	6-026
	(f) Two-sided markets	6-028
	(g) Tender or bidding markets	6-029
	(h) Derived demand	6-031
	(i) Connected markets	6-032
	(j) Not-for-profit organizations	6-033
6.5	EU Procurement and Harmonising Legislation	6-034
6.6	National Champions	6-035

7. HORIZONTAL MERGERS: NON-COORDINATED EFFECTS

7.1	Introduction	7-001
7.2	Merging Firms Have Large Market Shares	7-002
7.3	Differentiated Products	7-003
7.4	Competitors are Unlikely to Increase Supply if Price Increases	7-008
7.5	Other Factors Which May Give Rise to Non-Coordinated Effects	7-009
	(a) Limited possibilities of switching supplier	7-010
	(b) Merged group's ability to hinder expansion	7-012
	(c) Loss of an important competitive force or a "maverick"	7-013
7.6	Efficiencies Generated by the Merger and Other Aspects of the Merged Group's Market Position
	(a) Whether efficiencies resulting from the merger may contribute to a prohibition decision	7-016
	(b) Economies of scale or other efficiencies	7-019
	(c) The merged group's financial resources	7-020

8.	COORDINATED EFFECTS
8.1	Introduction	8-001
8.2	The Test for Identifying Coordinated Effects	8-004
8.3	Methodology in Analysing Coordinated Effects	8-007
8.4	The Nature of Coordination	8-008
8.5	Whether Coordinated Effects are Present Prior to the Merger
	(a) The Airtours decision	8-009
	(b) The practical importance of a finding of pre-merger coordinated effects	8-010
	(c) Evidence	8-012
8.6	The Members of the Candidate Oligopoly	8-016
8.7	Reaching Terms of Coordination
	(a) Introduction	8-017
	(b) Terms of coordination will only emerge if they are profitable	8-018
	(c) Type of product	8-019
	(d) Facilitating practices	8-021
	(e) Similarity in costs structures	8-022
	(f) Complexity of the terms of coordination	8-024
	(g) Transparency of the reference point	8-025
	(h) Other factors affecting the ability to reach terms of coordination	8-027
8.8	Monitoring Deviations	8-036
8.9	Deterrent Mechanisms
	(a) Generally	8-040
	(b) The scope of the obligation to identify a deterrent mechanism	8-041
	(c) The incentives to comply with the coordinated outcome	8-043
	(d) Chances of detection and speed of punishment	8-045
	(e) The deterrent mechanism must eliminate the gains from cheating	8-046
	(f) The credibility of the retaliatory threat	8-047
	(g) Market operation	8-048
8.10	Reactions of Outsiders
	(a) Introduction	8-049
	(b) The competitive fringe	8-050
	(c) New entry	8-052
	(d) Countervailing buyer power	8-053
8.11	Causation	8-055
8.12	Capacity
	(a) Introduction	8-058
	(b) Symmetry in over-capacity	8-059
	(c) Actual capacity	8-060
	(d) Tacit coordination on capacity	8-061
8.13	Structural Links	8-062
