

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Note on the translation	ix
Introduction to the translation	1

FINANCE CAPITAL

Preface	21
---------	----

Part I Money and credit

1 The necessity of money	27
2 Money in the circulation process	37
3 Money as a means of payment. Credit money	60
4 Money in the circulation of industrial capital	67
5 The banks and industrial credit	82
6 The rate of interest	99

Part II The mobilization of capital. Fictitious capital

7 The joint-stock company	107
8 The stock exchange	130
9 The commodity exchange	151
10 Bank capital and bank profit	170

Part III Finance capital and the restriction of free competition

11 Surmounting the obstacles to the equalization of rates of profit	183
12 Cartels and trusts	204
13 The capitalist monopolies and commerce	208
14 The capitalist monopolies and the banks. The transformation of capital into finance capital	223
15 Price determination by the capitalist monopolies and the historical tendency of finance capital	227

Part IV Finance capital and crises
16 The general conditions of crises	239
17 The causes of crises	257
18 Credit conditions in the course of the business cycle	267
19 Money capital and productive capital during the depression	282
20 Changes in the character of crises. Cartels and crises	288
Part V The economic policy of finance capital
21 The reorientation of commercial policy	301
22 The export of capital and the struggle for economic territory	311
23 Finance capital and classes	337
24 The conflict over the labour contract	351
25 The proletariat and imperialism	364
Notes	371
Bibliography
I The principal writings of Rudolf Hilferding	438
II Works on Hilferding	439
III Other works mentioned in the Introduction and in the text.	440
Index	445