

Table of Contents

Acknowledgementsv

Table of Cases xi

Table of Legislationxvii

Currency of Law xxi

1. Global Exception, Regional Norm1

 I. Foreign Judges and Courts of Constitutional Jurisdiction2

 II. An Underexplored Phenomenon5

 III. An Overlooked Region9

 IV. Methodology, Approach and Outline of the Argument13

2. The Foreign Judges of the Pacific18

 I. Introduction18

 II. Methodology19

 A. Defining a ‘Foreign Judge’19

 B. Scope of the Empirical Study20

 C. Techniques of Data Collection22

 III. Number and Proportion of Foreign Judges24

 IV. Different Kinds of Judicial Service24

 V. Who Serves as a Foreign Judge in the Pacific?26

 A. Nationality27

 B. Professional Background34

 C. Gender36

 D. The Significance of Identity and Background37

 VI. Localisation37

 A. Localisation in Papua New Guinea40

 B. Localisation in Fiji42

 C. Contributing Factors44

 VII. Conclusion45

3. The Regulation of Foreign Judges47

 I. Introduction47

 II. Selection and Appointment48

 A. Formal Appointment Process48

 B. Recruitment50

	C. Qualifications and Selection Criteria	54
	D. Formalities and Restrictions in the Foreign Judge's Home State	59
III.	Remuneration	62
	A. Rates and Sources of Remuneration	62
	B. Analysis and Implications	63
IV.	Tenure	64
	A. Constitutional and Statutory Provisions	65
	B. Relationship between Contractual Terms and Formal Appointment	67
	C. Duration of Appointments.....	69
	D. Analysis and Implications	71
V.	Removal.....	72
	A. Non-renewal of Contract.....	73
	B. Invitations to Sit on Court of Appeal Cease.....	73
	C. Visa Cancellation.....	74
	D. Analysis and Implications	75
VI.	Conduct of Hearings	75
	A. Language.....	76
	B. Time	77
	C. Place	78
VII.	Conclusion	79
4.	The Significance of Nationality.....	81
	I. Introduction	81
	II. Nationality, Citizenship and Foreignness.....	83
	III. Knowledge.....	86
	IV. Membership	93
	V. Identity.....	97
	VI. Conclusion	99
5.	Constitutional Adjudication	101
	I. Introduction	101
	II. Two Dimensions of Knowledge.....	103
	III. Transnational Knowledge Reach.....	105
	A. Shared Sources of Law	106
	B. Legal Borrowing.....	109
	IV. Local Knowledge Gaps.....	113
	A. Custom	113
	B. Constitutional Interpretation	119
	V. The Role of Local Judges in Bridging the National and Transnational	125
	VI. Conclusion	128

6.	Judicial Impartiality and Independence	130
I.	Introduction.....	130
II.	Assessing Judicial Impartiality and Independence.....	131
A.	Components	131
B.	Purpose.....	132
C.	Standards.....	133
III.	Impartiality.....	137
IV.	Independence	143
A.	Short Renewable Appointments	143
B.	Arbitrary Removal.....	151
V.	Conclusion.....	153
7.	Representation	155
I.	Introduction.....	155
II.	How are Judges and Judiciaries Representative?	157
III.	Formal Representation: Authorisation and Accountability.....	160
A.	Selection and Appointment.....	160
B.	Oath of Office and Allegiance	162
C.	Accepting and Resigning Judicial Office.....	164
D.	Accountability	166
IV.	‘Acting for’ Representation: What Guides Foreign Judges’ Decisions?.....	168
V.	Descriptive Representation: Foreign Judges and a Reflective Judiciary	175
A.	Public Confidence.....	175
B.	External Audiences and the Sovereignty Paradox.....	179
C.	Internal Audiences and Legal Pluralism.....	182
D.	Accounting for Public Confidence in Foreign Judges.....	184
VI.	Conclusion	185
8.	A Transnational Profession and Practice.....	186
I.	Introduction.....	186
II.	Rationale	187
A.	Transition	188
B.	Capacity Building.....	190
C.	Reputation	192
D.	Impartiality.....	193
E.	The Means and the Ends of Foreign Judging	194
III.	Legitimacy	195
A.	The Service Conception of Authority.....	195
B.	Democratic Legitimacy	197
C.	Tethering the Legitimacy of the Foreign Judge	198

IV.	Good Practice Initiatives	200
A.	Localisation.....	200
B.	Regionalisation.....	202
C.	Stability	203
D.	Judicial Independence.....	204
E.	Exchange of Knowledge	205
V.	Global Significance	206
A.	Globalisation.....	207
B.	Internationalisation	208
C.	Comparative Insights	209
	Bibliography	211
	Index	225