

Table of Contents

Foreword	9
Chapter I:
Threats, Challenges and Hopes: From my Perspective	13
The Growing Ambitions of the Ideology of Universalism and Their Destructive Consequences	14
Careless Opening Up of Countries (without Keeping the Anchor of the Nation-State) Leads either to Anarchy or to Global Governance: Lessons of the European Experience	21
The Visible Defects of the Ideology of Universalism	31
A Short (and Very Selective) Outline of Recent World Events	35
Valdai Debate about Threats: The Threat Is Us	40
Africa, Its Historic Challenge and the Contemporary, Excessively Internationalized World	45
The Arab World and Its Difficult Present Era – As Seen from Outside	54
Soviet Communism Is Over. What About Freedom?	61
How to Make a Change in Latin America? A Few Tentative Remarks	67
A Few Unsystematic Comments on the Contemporary Geopolitical Situation	79
The 2018 Athens Seminar – Are There Indications of a Good Future?	88
Today’s Russia: The Consequences of an Only Incompletely Realized Systemic Transformation	91

The 2019 Climate Alarmists' Offensive is Exclusively Politically Driven	97
From the Health Crisis to the Democratic Crisis: Remarks by a True Believer in a Free and Open Society	103
Chapter II:
The EU is at War with Liberty	107
Is There Any Reason to Celebrate Our First 10 Years in the EU?	108
The EU Is at War with Liberty	117
First Five Years since the Outbreak of the Greek Crisis	123
Future of International Development Institutions – Can Their Failures Be Even Bigger?	134
Did Brexit Enhance the Chances for a Much Needed Change in Europe?	139
Europe after Brexit	145
More or Less Europe?	148
Is it Possible for Central and Eastern European States to Preserve Their Identity in the European Union?	150
Brexit and the Growth of Populism in Europe: A Disclaimer	157
Europe Needs to Be Liberated Again	161
EU is not Europe	165
Notes for London Brexit Party Campaign Rally	178
National Sovereignty and the Unsolvable Problem of the EU	180
The EU in Its Current Form is a Tragic Mistake of the European History	190
Chapter III:
Mass Migration: An Embodiment of the European Crisis	195
Migration, Not Labor Markets, is the Issue of the Current Era	196
The Refugee Global Challenge (and Its European Specifics)	202

A Few Remarks on the Brexit and Trump Victories – As Seen from Central Europe	207
New Threats that the MPS Should Deal With	215
Rhodes, Social Mobility and Migration: A Fundamental Disagreement	225
Comprendere L’Immigrazione	229
Nothing Quiet on the Migration Front	235
Chapter IV:
Various Topics as Seen from Prague	241
Polish Transformation as Seen by a Friendly Neighbour	242
Commemoration of the 20th Anniversary of the Victims of Communism Memorial Foundation	245
The Great War and Its Continuing Impact: A View from the Czech Republic	248
25 Years After the Berlin Wall	252
Notes for London: House of Lords Hearings on Ukraine	259
It Is Time to Look at the Ukrainian Crisis in a Broader Context	262
Russia-West Relations	266
St. Petersburg Comments	270
The Friendly Split of Czechoslovakia – Precondition for the Future Stability and Prosperity of Both States	273
Economic (and Political) Transformation in Central and Eastern Europe	281
Let’s not Give up Fighting Climate Alarmism. It is Never Late!	289
Remarks at the Petöfi Prize Award Ceremony	295
Notes for Wuzhen	301
The Progressively Growing Self-Destruction of the West and Its Acceleration by the Covid Epidemic	305