

CONTENTS

Preface.....	5
1 Sport-Specific Assessment of Anaerobic Performance	7
(Zemková/Hamar)
1. 1 Isokinetic Cycle Ergometry	7
1. 2 Tethered Running on the Treadmill	24
1. 3 Rebound Jumps on Jump Ergometer.....	32
2 Strength Assessment Using Isokinetic Dynamometry	38
(Malý/Zahálka)
2. 1 Isokinetic Dynamometry as a Diagnostic Method in Sport.....	39
2. 2 The Role of the Isokinetic Strength of Lower Limb Diagnostics in Soccer.....	45
2. 3 Examples of the Use of Isokinetic Strength Monitoring in Soccer Players.....	46
2. 4 Unilateral Comparison	51
2. 5 Bilateral Comparison	53
2. 6 Design of Individualization in the Training Process and Its Verification in an Example of a Professional Soccer Player	56
3 Assessment of Intermittent Anaerobic Performance	64
(Psotta)
3. 1 Physiological Characteristics of Intermittent Maximal Intensity Exercise.....	65
3. 2 Tests of Intermittent Anaerobic Performance.....	67
3. 3 Research on Assessment of Intermittent Anaerobic Performance.....	69
3. 4 The Use of Intermittent Tests for Assessment of Individual Specificity of Physical Performance	86
3. 5 Conclusions	88
4 Kinetics of the Take-off in Ski Jumping.....	90
(Janura/Jandačka)
4. 1 The Take-off in Ski Jumping on a Jumping Hill	91
4. 2 Take-off Training – Laboratory and Field Conditions	96
4. 3 Conclusions and Recommendations for the Practice	110

5 Anaerobic Training and Its Individualization in Volleyball.....	113
(Lehnert/Vavák)
5. 1 Adaptations to Anaerobic Training.....	113
5. 2 Muscle Strength in Volleyball Game Performance and Training.....	114
5. 3 Training of Take-off Power in Volleyball Using the Plyometric Method.....	118
5. 4 The Individual Effect of Toning in Top Volleyball Players during Their Preparation for a Match.....	125
5. 5 The Individual Reaction of the Autonomous Nervous System of the Volleyball Players in the Training Micro-Cycle with an Increased Strength Load.....	131
6 Individualization in Sports Training	135
(Lehnert/Hoffmannová/Neuls/Botek/Šebek)
6. 1 The Theoretical Foundation of Individualization	135
6. 2 The Foundation for Implementing Individualization in Sports Training	138
6. 3 Individualization and Training Process Control	144
Summary.....	146
References	149
Index	182