

Table of contents

Introduction		v
	Julie Reiss
Chapter 1	The Anthropocene sublime: Justin Guariglia's artwork	1
	Eva Horn
Chapter 2	Art, theory, and the Anthropocene	9
	Martha Schwendener
Chapter 3	Art as destruction: an inquiry into creation	21
	David Haley
Chapter 4	Imaginative engagements: critical reflections on visual arts and climate change	39
	Julie Doyle
Chapter 5	Ecological art—origins, reality, becoming	51
	Paul Ardenne
	Translated by Charles Penwarden
Chapter 6	Charting urgency and agency	65
	Jennifer McGregor
Chapter 7	Terra incognita: exhibiting ice in the Anthropocene	77
	Julie Reiss
Chapter 8	Ethical grounds: the aesthetic actions of soil	87
	María Patricia Tinajero
Chapter 9	After nature and culture: plastiglomerate in the age of capital	99
	Weiye Chang

Chapter 10	Curating digital decay: machines will watch us die	111
	Patrizia Costantin
Chapter 11	A Poem - A Leaf	119
	Alice Momm
Chapter 12	Blued Trees as Policy: art, law, science and the Anthropocene	121
	Aviva Rahmani
Chapter 13	Students being transformed into trees: inverted anthropomorphization in order to enhance connectedness to natural environments and plants	137
	Margaretha Häggström
	Notes on the contributors	155
	Index	159