

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	ix
Abbreviations	xi
Citation Conventions	xiii
INTRODUCTION	1
Creation and the life of the human race: The contours of Irenaeus' cosmic anthropology	1
Comparative sources	9
The 'Gnostics'	11
Contemporary Christian sources: Justin and Theophilus ...	15
Jewish sources	19
CHAPTER ONE CREATION'S STAGE: THE BACKGROUND TO IRENÆUS' PROTOLOGY	21
The motivation and cause of creation	22
Contemporary interpretations of creation and motivation	22
Irenaeus on the motivation for creation	32
The creator's untrammelled power: a doctrine of creation ex nihilo	38
Creation ex nihilo in the broader theological milieu	40
Irenaeus' developments: creation ex nihilo clarified in Christ	44
Chiliasm: Reading the beginning through the end and the end through the beginning	49
CHAPTER TWO 'THE WORK OF HIS HANDS':
THE CREATION OF THE COSMOS	61
'Trinity'? Creation as an act of Father, Son and Spirit	62
A triune act—three roles in creation	64
Distinguishing the creative work	71
The 'hands' of the Father	80
A 'timeline' of creation	84
The days of creation and the beginning of redemption	88
Days that lead to growth: 'Increase and multiply'	96
Recapitulation, and a definition of history	98

CHAPTER THREE DUST AND LIFE: THE CREATION OF THE
HUMAN PERSON	101
The triune creation of humanity	103
The untilled earth and the constitution of the human person	108
The creature wrought of dust and breath: the composition of the human formation	111
Four categories of incarnational reading	112
God and not angels created the human handiwork	112
Christ's birth and human nature	115
The material aspect of humanity's being as a creature of flesh	117
The human-shaped soul: man's immortal element in relation to the Holy Spirit	127
From dust and breath to living image	135
The paradise of humankind	138
Humanity's relationship to the cosmos	145
Humanity's social context: the relationship of Adam and Eve	150
CHAPTER FOUR HISTORY TRANSFORMED:
HUMANITY'S TRANSGRESSION	153
The tree and the prohibition	154
The nature of the prohibition: protection from knowledge misused	154
The relationship of knowledge and obedience	159
The dynamic of maturing knowledge and responsibility ...	161
A prohibition but not a test	163
The fall of knowledge and knowing	165
The question of humanity's 'fall'	167
The devil and the deception of the human child	169
The devil's motivation	170
The nature and the accomplishment of the deceit	172
The response to sin: humankind	176
The opening of humanity's eyes: awareness and reaction	177
Humanity's flight and confrontation with God	179
The response to sin: God	183
The curse	184
The clothing and the expulsion from paradise	188

CHAPTER FIVE STUMBLING TO PERFECTION:

LIFE AFTER EDEN	195
Cain and Abel, and the internalisation of transgression	195
Enoch, Noah and the deluge	200
The descendents of Noah and the future of the race	205
The tower of Babel and the distribution of races	209
CONCLUSION	213
Appendix I A note on Irenaeus source texts and dates	217
The Irenaeus corpus	217
Reading Irenaeus: a note on source texts	217
Dating the Epideixis with respect to the Adversus haereses	218
Appendix II Use of Genesis 1–11 in the Irenaeus Corpus ...	221
Appendix III Irenaeus' employment of the two accounts of humanity's creation	225
Bibliography	227
Index	239

M.C. Sternberg
November 2007