Contents

List of illustrations ix
Acknowledgements x

1 Introduction 1

Conceptualising youth sexting 3
Researching youth sexting: Methodology and scope 11
Chapter outline 14

2 The legal and educational policy context to youth sexting 23

Youth sexting as risky and harmful 23
The law and youth-produced sexual imagery 24
Educational responses to youth sexting 28
Gender, risk and sexting education 30
Youth sexting as a 'moral panic' 33
'Rights', 'agency', 'legitimacy' and youth sexting 34
Conclusion 37

3 Young people, technology and sexting 46

Young people and technology 46
Young people's perceptions of sexting 48
Sexting, gender and relationships 51
Conclusion 58

4 Privacy violations in youth sexting culture 63

Young people, privacy and technology 63
Young people, sexting and privacy 67
Conclusion 81

5 Sexting and consent: Unwanted, pressured and coerced image-sharing 86

The pleasures and rewards of sexting 87
Feeling 'used' and saying 'no' to sexting 91
Pressured and coerced sexting 96
Unsolicited image-sharing 101
Conclusion 106

6 Social shaming and victim blaming 111

Managing risk and avoiding harm 111
Victim blaming and social shaming 115
'Deserving' and 'undeserving' victims 118
Negotiating shame and stigma 121
Redefining bodily and sexual expression: 'Frexting' 126
Conclusion 131

7 Responding to youth sexting: Young people's perspectives 137

Prohibiting sexting and encouraging abstinence 137
Sex(ting) education and interventions 142
Empowering young people: Peer-based support and bystander intervention 151
Conclusion 157

8 Reducing risk and harm in youth sexting: Conclusions and ways forward 162

Youth sexting as a cultural phenomenon 163
Rights and ethics 164
Sexting preventative education and interventions 167
Taking a new approach to education and interventions 169
Recommendations for practice and policy 172

Index 179