

Contents

Foreword	11
I. Introduction: Creatures are dying, but we have our own worries	13
II. Some interpretative keys	23
II.1. Universal key: ^{UK} faithfulness, compassion, responsibility	25
TEXTBOX: Faithfulness to the nest	29
II.2. Ontological key: ^{OK} vita activa and vita contemplativa	31
TEXTBOX: Mary has chosen what is better	34
TEXTBOX: Vocabulary based on Hannah Arendt's terms	34
II.3. Psychological key: ^{PK} defence mechanisms, locus of control	35
TEXTBOX: Seminar Study A	40
II.4. Motivational key: ^{MK} teleology, deontology, virtue ethics	41
TEXTBOX: Seminar study B	49
II.5. Theological key: ^{TK} Steward, shepherd, sibling	50
TEXTBOX: Dietrich Bonhoeffer's prison letter to his parents	61
III. Faithfulness to nature and faithfulness to ideas	63
III.1. Environmental grief	65
TEXTBOX: The poet retreats	76
TEXTBOX: The astonishing zebra finch	77
III.2. Rational ecopragmatists	79
TEXTBOX: An attempt at creating steppe land	86
III.3. Un/faithful nature conservationists	89
TEXTBOX: What has worked, what to look out for, what has to be kept in mind	102
III.4. Evil nature. The anti-nature subculture	103
III.5. Faithfulness to words and ideas, the problem with comparisons	114
TEXTBOX: Subcultural codes in an international 'green dating site'	123
IV. The Colourful over the course of time	125
IV.1. The initial report: the Colourful in 1992	127
IV.2. A report on the Colourful ten years on	163
IV.3. The Colourful 23 years on	187
TEXTBOX: A sociological heat study	212
IV.4. The Children of the Colourful	215
V. Conclusion: The palliative conservation of the swift	235
VI. Bibliography	241