

Contents

General Editor's Preface	v
Preface	vii
Table of Cases	xix
Table of Legislation	xxxix
Table of Conventions and Treaties	xlvi
Chapter 1 INTRODUCTION AND SCHEME
I. Introduction	1.01
II. Advance conclusions	1.12
III. Terms and elements	1.13
Agreements on jurisdiction; agreements on choice of law; and agreements	1.13
Jurisdiction agreements and their validity	1.14
What jurisdiction agreements mean	1.16
Agreements on choice of law	1.19
Severability	1.20
Contractual autonomy	1.22
Consent and agreement	1.24
Penn v Lord Baltimore	1.27
IV. A snapshot from 2007	1.29
V. Scheme	1.32
Chapter 2 CONSENT IN PRIVATE INTERNATIONAL LAW
I. The general principle	2.01
II. The role of consent in commercial law	2.11
III. Consent or agreement, and the absence of consent or agreement	2.13
IV. Consent in the application and proof of foreign law	2.21
V. Consent in choice of law	2.30
VI. Consent in the recognition of foreign judgments	2.46
VII. Consent and the personal jurisdiction of the court	2.58
VIII. Consent and the subject matter jurisdiction of the court	2.68
IX. European jurisdiction	2.71
Chapter 3 DISPUTE RESOLUTION AND SEVERABILITY
I. Contractual terms	3.01
II. The nature of agreements for the resolution of disputes	3.08
III. Contractual agreements on jurisdiction	3.09
IV. Separate natures, or severable agreements?	3.19
V. The path to the principle of severability	3.20

VI. Validity and severability: jurisdiction agreements	3.35
VII. The obverse of severability	3.44
VIII. The agreement on choice of law as part of the severable agreement	3.49
IX. The strength and weakness of agreement as an organizing principle	3.68
1. Divergence on the existence of a contract	3.69
2. Divergence on the content of the bargain	3.71
X. Assumptions and conclusions	3.75

Chapter 4 CLAUSES, PRINCIPLES, AND INTERPRETATION

I. The range and varieties of jurisdiction clause	4.01
II. Jurisdiction clauses: rights conferred and duties assumed	4.09
III. Jurisdiction agreements as exemption clauses	4.26
IV. The scope of the duty; the ambit of the clause	4.33
V. Service of suit clauses	4.50
VI. Combined arbitration and jurisdiction agreements	4.53
VII. Choice of law clauses	4.59
VIII. One contract but several agreements	4.64
IX. The role of European law	4.71

Chapter 5 DRAFTING AGREEMENTS

I. Drafting by specimen	5.01
II. Contractual variation of the Brussels I Regulation	5.08
III. A specimen clause: elaborate version	5.17
1. Explanation of contents: elaborate version	5.18
Clause (a) Governing law	5.18
Clause (b) Type of jurisdiction and scope of that jurisdiction	5.23
Clause (b) bis Non-exclusive or optional jurisdiction	5.30
Clause (c) Personal undertakings	5.35
Clause (d) Service of process	5.41
Clause (e) Right of A, but not B, to bring proceedings in any other jurisdiction	5.43
Clause (f) Enforceability despite invalidity of Principal Agreement	5.45
Clause (g) Effect in relation to claims by and against non-parties	5.47
Clause (h) Further undertaking by B in the event of breach of this Clause	5.51
IV. A specimen clause: minimalist version	5.53
V. Drafting by incorporation from other documents	5.62
VI. The meaning of words and the use of authority	5.64
1. The subject matter: 'this contract', 'this agreement'	5.69
2. Prepositions, connections, and the terminology of relationship	5.73

'Arising under this contract'	5.74
'Arising out of this contract'	5.78
'Arising in any way whatsoever out of this contract'	5.83
'Arising from this contract'	5.84
'Arising in connection with this contract'	5.85
'In relation to this contract'	5.87
'Construction of this contract'	5.89
'Any disputes'	5.90

Chapter 6 JURISDICTION AGREEMENTS: PRIMARY OBLIGATIONS

I. Jurisdiction-blind enforcement	6.09
II. Development of the anti-suit injunction	6.21
III. Objections to enforcement by order of the English court	6.38
IV. Equitable maxims as restriction on remedy	6.58
V. The position of strangers to the contract	6.64
VI. Stays of English proceedings brought in breach of contract	6.70

Chapter 7 JURISDICTION AGREEMENTS: BRUSSELS I REGULATION

I. The context in which Article 23 is to operate	7.02
II. The structure of Article 23	7.09
III. The conclusiveness or inconclusiveness of writing	7.15
IV. What is an 'agreement' for the purposes of Article 23?	7.28
V. Unilateral or bilateral agreement	7.36
VI. Article 23: What writing? Whose writing?	7.39
VII. The parties to the 'particular legal relationship'	7.48
VIII. Formal alternatives to writing which satisfy Article 23	7.59
IX. Article 23 and those who depart from the agreement	7.65
X. Injunctions to enforce agreements about jurisdiction and litigation	7.72
XI. Turner v Grovit	7.77
XII. How persuasive? The burden of proof	7.86
XIII. The 'particular legal relationship'	7.88
XIV. Clarifying the wording: the United Kingdom	7.93
XV. Jurisdiction agreements for the courts of non-Member States	7.98
XVI. Conclusions	7.105

Chapter 8 JURISDICTION AGREEMENTS: SECONDARY OBLIGATIONS

I. The starting points of the common law	8.05
II. Union Discount v Zoller and cases which are less straightforward	8.15
III. Other issues arising within the common law analysis	8.47
1. The cause of action	8.48
2. The assessment of damages	8.54
3. Where the nominated court is not in England	8.59
IV. Judgments from the courts of a Member State	8.63

Chapter 9 FOREIGN JUDGMENTS

I. Common law recognition	9.05
II. Judgments from the court designated by a dispute resolution agreement	9.21
III. Foreign judgments obtained in breach of jurisdiction agreement	9.28
IV. Overcoming foreign judgments obtained in breach of contract	9.32
V. Recognition and enforcement under the Regulation	9.38
VI. The decision in De Wolf v Cox	9.45
VII. Recognition and enforcement at the margin of the Regulation	9.49
VIII. International obligations binding courts; personal obligations binding parties	9.58

Chapter 10 AGREEMENTS ON CHOICE OF LAW

I. Contracts: where the existence of the contract is not in dispute	10.02
II. Contracts: where the contract is in dispute	10.22
III. Contracts: the law which governs the consequences of contractual invalidity	10.36
IV. Contracts: conclusions about the nature of choice of law for contracts	10.40
V. Agreements on choice of law and claims in tort	10.43
VI. Choice of law and property rights	10.75

Chapter 11 GIVING EFFECT TO AGREEMENTS ON CHOICE OF LAW

I. Introduction	11.01
II. The common law and the proper law of a contract	11.13
III. Choice of proper law: common intention or mutual agreement?	11.16
IV. Governing the contract and governing contractual litigation	11.33
V. The consequence if the law agreed for application is not applied	11.45
1. Breach of a choice of law	11.46
2. Non-monetary responses	11.59
3. Monetary remedies	11.71
4. Subverting the contract as a tortious wrong	11.72
5. The Rome Convention	11.74
VI. Impermissible choices of law: secondary consequences	11.79
VII. The alternative: careful drafting	11.84
1. Promising to pay	11.85
2. Adapting the undertaking in damages	11.88

Chapter 12 AGREEMENTS TO RESOLVE DISPUTES BY ARBITRATION

I. Preliminary questions and practical answers	12.08
II. Who will adjudicate? Who decides who will adjudicate?	12.17
III. Another view	12.28
IV. To what do the parties agree when they agree to arbitration?	12.37
V. The jurisdiction of the courts of the seat	12.47
VI. Damages for breach of the contract to proceed by way of arbitration	12.52
VII. Foreign judgments in breach of arbitration agreement: Brussels I Regulation	12.60
1. Simple non-recognition of judgments	12.61
2. Reversal of judgments	12.73
3. Private rights and public duties	12.78
VIII. Restraining foreign proceedings in breach of an agreement to arbitrate: Brussels I Regulation	12.79
IX. The New York Convention	12.85
X. The problem of excessive supervision	12.86

Chapter 13 CONCLUSIONS

I. The effect of agreements on the resolution of disputes	13.01
II. The Hague Convention on Choice of Court Agreements	13.07
III. The judge as umpire	13.15
IV. Reprise: private international law and party autonomy	13.22