

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
-------------------------	-----

Introduction: As morning shows the day	1
-----------------------------------------------	----------

Moral education and schools	3
------------------------------------	---

Philosophical approach	5
-------------------------------	---

Structure of the book	8
------------------------------	---

PART I

Reason and autonomy	9
----------------------------	----------

1 The ethical agent and reasonableness	11
-----------------------------------------------	-----------

1.1 Reasonableness and autonomy	11
----------------------------------------	----

1.2 The aspects of reasonableness	14
------------------------------------------	----

1.3 Reasonableness and moral education	44
-----------------------------------------------	----

2 The ethical agent and autonomy	46
-----------------------------------------	-----------

2.1 Kant on reason and autonomy	46
----------------------------------------	----

2.2 Reason and development	48
-----------------------------------	----

2.3 Evidence from experimental developmental psychology	49
----------------------------------------------------------------	----

2.4 A reconceptualization of autonomy	54
----------------------------------------------	----

2.5 Towards a new understanding of autonomy	57
----------------------------------------------------	----

3 Pedagogic action and the development of autonomy	59
-----------------------------------------------------------	-----------

3.1 Dialogical action and the classroom	59
------------------------------------------------	----

3.2 Autonomy again	79
---------------------------	----

3.3 From foundations to moral theory	85
---------------------------------------------	----

PART II

Moral theory and moral development 87

4 A target for moral education 89

4.1 Meta-ethical theory: monolithic or multi-dimensional? 89

4.2 Virtue ethics 92

4.3 Virtue ethics: benefits and drawbacks 105

5 Discourse ethics 107

5.1 Habermas and discourse ethics 108

5.2 A critical appraisal of discourse ethics 110

5.3 Discourse ethics: benefits and drawbacks 124

6 A meta-ethics for an ethical education program 126

6.1 Strengths and weaknesses 126

6.2 Discursive virtue ethics 128

6.3 From meta-ethics to the classroom 139

PART III

Discourse and ethics in the classroom 143

7 Introducing the community of inquiry 145

7.1 The community of inquiry 146

7.2 Vygotskian learning in the community of inquiry 148

8 Development and the community of inquiry 152

8.1 The development of reasonableness 156

8.2 Ethical development in the community of inquiry 159

8.3 The place of the teacher 167

8.4 Indoctrination, ethical relativism, moral indifference and the path between them 169

8.5 Towards detailed practice 180

9 At the chalkface 182

9.1 The preliminary phase of the community of inquiry 183

9.2 The discussion phase of the community of inquiry 186

9.3 Classroom communities of ethical inquiry 204

Notes 207

Bibliography 213

Index 223