

Summary.....	013
I. Introduction.....	019
1. Immigration and Vulnerability.....	021
1.1 Europe	021
1.2 Portugal	022
1.3 Greater Lisbon – Amadora and Sintra.....	023
2. Maternal and Child Health in Portugal.....	026
3. Healthcare in Amadora and Sintra: Health Unit D.....	027
3.1 Hospital Fernando Fonseca	028
3.2 Healthcare Centers.....	028
II. Objectives	031
1. Main Aim	033
2. Specific Aims.....	033
III. Methodology	035
1. Population and Sampling	037
2. Data Collection and Statistical Analysis: Analytical tools and techniques	037
2.1 Analytical Tools.....	037
2.2 Statistical Analysis Tools.....	038
2.3 Geographical Information System of the families.....	039
IV. Results	043
1. Population and Sample	045
2. Origin and Ethnicity of the Parents and Grandparents	045
3. Comparative Analysis between the Children of Immigrants and Portuguese nationals.....	051
3.1 General Characteristics of the Newborns	051
3.2 Pregnancy and Delivery	052
3.3 Family Characteristics	057

3.3.1 General	057
3.3.2 The Parents	059
3.3.2.1 Mothers	059
3.3.2.2 Fathers	062
3.4 Social Risk	065
3.5 Attitudes about childcare and beliefs on motherhood	066
Summary	067
4. Use of Healthcare Services.....	068
4.1 Ambulatory Services.....	068
4.1.1 Consultation and Exams	068
4.1.2 Pediatric Emergencies	069
4.2 Hospital Admission.....	071
4.2.1 Admission from the Delivery Room to the NICU.....	071
4.2.2 Admitted from outside the hospital – to the PICU or Pediatric Wards	073
4.2.3 Risk Factors for Hospital Admission	075
4.2.4 Admission and Socioeconomic deprivation	078
Summary	079
5. Perinatal and Infant Mortality.....	080
Summary	082
6. Primary healthcare of the immigrant children – Healthcare center	083
Summary	084
7. The influence of socioeconomic context on the health of newborns in the municipality of Amadora	085
7.1 Residential areas of the families.....	085
7.2 Public health services: Demand and Use	088
7.2.1 Access and Utilization of the Healthcare Centers	088
7.2.2 Access to and Use of Hospital Fernando Fonseca.....	091
7.3 Distance of the family's residence to other social institutions and parks.....	093
Summary	095

V. Discussion.....	097
VI. Conclusions and Proposals	123
VII. Bibliography	127