

Contents

Acknowledgments	5
List of abbreviations	11
1 Introduction	13
1.1 Current state of research and research methodology	14
1.1.1 Current state of research	14
1.1.2 Research methodology	26
2 Muslim minorities in Europe as a representative of otherness	39
2.1 Introduction	39
2.2 A new focus on the concepts of Europe and Islam	41
2.3 Otherness is no longer distant	43
2.4 Elements that strengthen identity	47
2.5 Identity, integration and cultural conflict	55
2.6 Conclusion	57
3 Temporary places of prayer and new mosques in Germany, Austria and Switzerland	61
3.1 Introduction	61
3.1.1 Islam in Germany, Austria and Switzerland	64
3.2 Temporary places of prayer or a 'mosque in the backyard'	66
3.2.1 Choice of locations in the center and on the outskirts of cities	68
3.2.2 'Mosques in the backyard' and their variants	72

3.3	Community structure, spiritual-administrative leadership and multifunctional architecture	80
3.4	Evolutionary themes in the process of the integration of Muslim communities and their professional criticism	89
3.5	Case study: Four decades of the construction of mosques by Turkish communities in Germany	101
3.5.1	The Türkisch-Islamische Union der Anstalt für Religion (DITIB)	102
3.5.2	Communities with a Turkish cultural background and mosques from 1977 to 2018	105
3.6	Conclusion	111
4	Islamic sections in municipal cemeteries in Germany, Austria and Switzerland	117
4.1	Introduction	117
4.1.1	Transport of the deceased to the 'homeland'	124
4.1.2	Muslim funerals in Germany, Austria and Switzerland	128
4.2	Special sections for Muslims in municipal cemeteries	132
4.2.1	Secular administration of the public cemetery and the delineation of specialized sections	137
4.2.2	Cemetery plots as a topic for research on Muslim communities	140
4.3	Case study: Different solutions for Muslim sections in Swiss municipal cemeteries	144
4.3.1	From a monolithic cemetery to a special section in Geneva ...	144
4.3.2	Terraces located on the edges of cemeteries: Zürich and Winterthur	147
4.3.3	A differently oriented section in the center of the cemetery: Bern	151
4.4	Types of graves and the normative religious view of the tombstone	156
4.4.1	Tombstone as an expression of diverse expectations and identification with values	159

4.4.2 Aftercare and visits to graves	165
4.5 Case study: Muslim graves from Parkfriedhof Heiligenstock in Frankfurt am Main	168
4.5.1 Parkfriedhof Heiligenstock in Frankfurt am Main	168
4.5.2 Cemetery sections 8–11 as evidence of the development of funeral culture	170
4.6 Conclusion	180
5 Conclusion	185
Attachment	191
Sources, literature and internet links	195
Sources	195
Literature	196
Internet links	218
List of illustrations	219
Index of proper names and geographical names	221