Contents

Acknowledgements 9

1. Introduction 11

2. The Context 21

3. Generic competences 29

4. Subject specific competences and approaches to teaching, learning and assessment 65

   4.1. Business Administration 67
   4.2. Architecture 82
   4.3. Law 102
   4.4. Education 124
   4.5. Nursing 140
   4.6. Physics 152
   4.7. Geology 171
   4.8. History 189
   4.9. Civil Engineering 207
   4.10. Mathematics 225
   4.11. Medicine 247
   4.12. Chemistry 261

5. Some remarks on the units used for measuring student workload in Latin America 281

6. Conclusions and proposals for the future 293

7. Participants and structure of the organisation 297

8. Glossary of terms 309

9. Bibliography 315

Appendix I. Tuning Methodology 319

Appendix II. Key characteristics of Latin American education systems . . 329

—Model of the questionnaire. 329
—Argentina 331
—Bolivia 337
—Brazil 339
—Chile 345
—Colombia 350
—Costa Rica 356
—Cuba 361
—Ecuador 363
—El Salvador 365
—Guatemala 368
—Honduras 371
—Mexico 373
—Nicaragua. 378
—Panamá 381
—Paraguay 384
—Peru 390
—Dominican Republic 393
—Uruguay 397
—Venezuela. 401

Appendix III. Information on academic credit systems in Latin America . . 405