

Contents

---

Acknowledgements

vii

PART I THEORETICAL AND CONTEXTUAL FRAMEWORK

1	Introduction: establishing copyright principles for an access world	2
1.1	Limited engagement with the making available right	2
1.2	A vacuum of principles to guide copyright's dissemination function	7
1.3	The objective: a principled framework for analysis	9
2	Copyright's history, theory and context	12
2.1	Introduction	12
2.2	The historical development of copyright	13
2.3	Copyright's enduring 'copy-fetish'	18
2.4	A new communications environment: the internet	21
2.5	Copyright's theoretical foundations	28
2.6	The dissemination function of copyright	37
2.7	Conclusion	50

PART II INTERNATIONAL, REGIONAL AND NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

3	The Internet Treaties: introducing the making available right	53
3.1	Introduction	53
3.2	The existing international framework: Berne Convention and TRIPS	54
3.3	The WIPO Internet Treaties: WCT and WPPT	59
3.4	Interpreting the Internet Treaties	69
3.5	Conclusion	79
4	National and regional implementation: US, EU and Australia	81
4.1	Introduction	81
4.2	Statutory implementation	82

4.3	Interpretations of the ‘act’ of making available	92
4.4	Interpretations of ‘the public’	143
4.5	Conclusion	158
 PART III UNDERLYING PROBLEMS AND LESSONS FOR REFORM
5	Interpreting ‘the public’: a focus on copyright owners’ perspectives	166
5.1	Introduction	166
5.2	Historical approaches to ‘the public’	167
5.3	The relevance of copyright markets	179
5.4	Copyright’s role in supporting technological innovation	185
5.5	Conclusion	193
6	Interpreting the ‘act’: superficial analysis of a crucial element	196
6.1	Introduction	196
6.2	The ‘act’ as a determinative starting point	197
6.3	Parameters of the ‘act’	200
6.4	A mental component: volition and its various shades of meaning	209
6.5	The impact of copyright’s liability standard on dissemination	236
6.6	Conclusion	249
 PART IV SOLUTIONS AND FUTURE PATHWAYS
7	Conceptual framework for the future	252
7.1	Introduction	252
7.2	Copyright’s fundamental functions	253
7.3	Distilling four interrelated principles	263
7.4	Building judicial clarity and transparency	266
7.5	Statutory refinement and negotiated solutions	275
7.6	Conclusion	283
8	Conclusion: towards principled and transparent decision making	285
	Index	287